Will Streamline State Checking Operations

Will Accept Plan Special Group Urged

Frank Blankenship Has Been Appointed Morris' Chief Clerk

JEFFERSON CITY (P) — State Treasurer M. E. Morris announced plans today to adopt a recommendation of the state's "Little Hoover" Commission to streamline the treasury's big check writing operation.

Morris also announced, in an unusual news conference in the Capitol press room, that:

Frank Blankenship, who has been administering the state's new cigarette tax law, has been appointed his chief clerk. He succeeds Ralph Copher, who held the job under G. H. Bates, the former treasurer.

Fred Krieger, assistant cashier of the Mercantile Trust Co. of St. Louis, is on loan to the Treasury for 60 days to survey the business operations of the office and prepare a "flow chart" of income and outgo so Morris will know how much state money may be safely invested in interest bearing time deposits or securities.

Morris said State Auditor Haskell Holman and Comptroller Newton Atterbury had agreed with him on the new check writing plan. He said identical bills to put it into effect will be introduced in the Legislature next week by Rep. Thomas D. Graham (D) of Cole County and Sen. George A. Spencer (D) of Columbia.

Currently the treasurer's office writes about 700,000 checks a year—not including welfare and highway department checks which are written on business machines in those departments.

But before a check can be written by the treasurer, a warrant first must be approved by the comptroller and auditor would become a check when signed by the treasurer. A bill calling for such a system died in a Senate committee two years ago.

Morris estimated the new plan would save about $25,000 a year and eliminate three check writing jobs in his office.

Blankenship, taking over the biggest job in the treasurer's office at $6,240 a year, is a Democrat from Nevada, Mo.

He came to Jefferson City in 1933 to work in the income tax unit and later was chief clerk of that office, cashier of the division of collection in the Revenue Department and assistant income tax supervisor before taking over the cigarette tax job a year ago.

Dulles Concludes Six Days of Testimony

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of State Dulles today concluded six days of testimony to senators on the administration's Middle East resolution, and was reported to have agreed to two amendments:

1. Provide for 15 days advance notice "to appropriate committees of the Congress" on just how any of the proposed 200 million dollars of military and economic aid funds would be spent.

2. Make certain that emergency powers as to the handling of this money would expire with the end of this fiscal year, next June 30.

Youth Killed Father

Mother Says She Shot Son to Save Children

ST. LOUIS (P) — A 42-year-old mother changed her story today and told police she fired a revolver twice at her mentally-retarded son after he killed his father, police said.

Mrs. John M. Bayer of suburban University City was quoted by Det. Sgt. Walter Gorman as saying fear for the lives of her three other children made her fire at her 18-year-old son, James.

Gorman said no charges would be filed against Mrs. Bayer and added, "This looks like self-defense."

Mrs. Bayer suffered a bullet wound of the left hip in struggling with James Wednesday night, police reported, after he shot his 49-year-old father while he slept. Previously, on an account given by Mrs. Bayer, police said the boy killed his father, then committed suicide.

Mrs. Bayer said she didn't

Worst In Area History

Death, Damage Mount As Rain Feeds Flood

By The Associated Press

The toll of death and destruction mounted today as new heavy rains fed one of the worst floods in the history of the Appalachian Mountain region and carried the threat deeper into the South.

Thirteen were dead in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia—first to be struck when floodwaters rolled out of the mountains.

President Eisenhower declared portions of Kentucky and West Virginia a disaster area as damages ran into millions of dollars. Virginia Gov. Thomas B. Stanley also requested disaster designation for six southwest counties where 2,000 were homeless and 18,000 knocked out of their jobs.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American Red Cross, said it was allocating half a million dollars for flood relief in the three states.

But even as already devastated areas began the herculean task of getting back to normal, new flood warnings were raised in Tennessee, western North Carolina and northeast Georgia.

Farther south, the Warrior River was rising swiftly in Alabama, where the Tombigbee also was expected to go out of its banks.

Heavy rains continued to pound east Tennessee from Chattanooga to Knoxville. Eight and a half inches have fallen in 12 days, more than twice the normal amount for the month.

Two hundred families fled their homes at Sevierville, 26 miles southeast of Knoxville, as water from the Little Pigeon River rose to two and three feet deep in the center of town.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Asheville, N. C., sounded flash flood warnings for the mountain section. The Southern Railroad reported three freight trains stalled by landslides in western North Carolina.

Professional Spanker Gets Fees for Her Art

EAST BOOTHBAY, Maine (P) — An expert recommends the bare hand for the best results in spankings, and if you're timid about doing it yourself she'll apply the pressure for you for a fee.

Mrs. Frances Dodge, a 48-year-old grandmother, is a professional spanker. Her charge is about a dollar each, depending somewhat on the victim's attitude. Her service is strictly confidential and she claims "many satisfied clients" in this Maine vacation and shipbuilding area.

"A half dozen well-directed strokes right on the target are usually enough," she advises. "All that we want to do is make the youngster realize that he or she has misbehaved. We're not out to seek vengeance."

How did Mrs. Dodge get into the spanking business? She got tired of hearing parents at Grange, lodge and other meetings complain about their children. So one day—almost without thinking, she said—she declared: "Bring them to me. I'll straighten them out."

Mrs. Dodge is no novice at handling children. She and her husband, Lawrence, a shipbuilding worker, raised four. She says she brought them up the old fashioned way, "with an eye on their manners and a hand on their bottoms when it was necessary."

The first "customer" was a friend's daughter visiting the Dodies for a few days.

"She had been brought up by the new method—never lift a hand to 'em," Mrs. Dodge related, "so she was very hard to manage."

"After about two days of this, I was on the verge of collapse so I finally resorted to the method I used on my own children. From then on we became fast friends and her mother hardly knew her when she returned home."

A recent applicant was a 12-year-old boy. "He came in a-grinning, thinking that my business was really a joke," Mrs. Dodge said. So she resorted to her paddle which she keeps only for older children.

"We had quite a tussle but three or four direct hits really made him see the light and his mother says he hasn't been any trouble since."

Word of Mrs. Dodge's rare occupation has spread. She said she got a letter from Bogota, Columbia, asking whether "a boy of 10 years old is sufficient to spank with de hands on de bare rump?"

The answer was yes and she prefers the hand to a hairbrush.

Made by Young Couple

The ice-snow lady that was pictured in The Sedalia Democrat-Capitol on Wednesday evening and Thursday morning was the work of Mr. and Mrs. Easley, 216 West Sixth. Mr. Easley rolled the snow and his wife was the sculptor. Vandalism destroyed the work of art sometime Wednesday night.

H. M. Kelly Becomes MoPac Superintendent

H. M. Kelly, 1411 South Barrett, formerly foreman of the coach and freight department of the Missouri Pacific shops in Sedalia, today assumed his new duties as superintendent of the shops. He succeeds Guy Bailey, who retired as of the first of the year and has moved to Little Rock, Ark., for reasons of health.

Russians Say West Evasive

Tass Claims US Speeds Preparation For Atomic War

MOSCOW (P) — The Soviet government today accused the Western Powers of deliberately evading a solution for the problem of world disarmament.

It charged, in a statement distributed by Tass, that the United States was "speeding up preparations" for a new atomic war—an obvious reference to American plans to establish foreign support commands.

The statement said the United States used not only evasion but delaying tactics within the United Nations to avoid a solution on the disarmament problem.

Foreign Ministry spokesman Leonid F. Ilyichev, who called a news conference to announce the official statement, said that despite what he called Western provocations the Soviet Union "is and will continue its efforts towards solving the problem."

The official statement traced the disarmament question back to Russia's Nov. 17 proposals to the West. At that time, the Kremlin asked the West to agree on a lengthy program, including dissolution of military pacts, a ban on nuclear tests and weapons, withdrawal of all foreign troops, and even aerial inspection along a strip separating the Communist and non-Communist areas of Europe.

With the Tass statement the Soviet government made public replies to these proposals from President Eisenhower, former British Prime Minister Eden, and French Premier Mollet. All three rejected a Soviet bid for a big power conference on disarmament and said efforts toward ending the world's arms race should be channeled through the United Nations.

The Soviet Union statement said this country did not propose to give up its efforts toward disarmament and the relaxation of international tension despite what it called a "regretful" lack of co-operation from the West.

"It cannot be stated that the government of the United States has been speeding up war preparation and accelerating the arms race, including the production of atomic weapons," the Soviet statement said.

What Was That Name Again?

The Sergeant Was Confused, And No One Can Blame Him

And they say a Highway Patrolman doesn't have troubles!

The McTague family travels about the country peddling rugs about the house, and here in Sedalia the stop wasn't too profitable. They had troubles, but theirs were not so confusing as those of the Patrol.

It seems John McTague, 31, was in a serious accident on the water works road Dec. 15 and suffered injuries which kept him in the hospital for nearly three weeks.

While he was confined, another brother, James Michael, was reported to have been in an accident at Dresden. He wasn't injured, but his car was badly wrecked.

Sgt. E. W. Van Winkle investigated James' accident at Dresden and found the driver had disappeared.

Mothers Get Over $4,000 For 'March'

The mothers' of Sedalia waded through ice and snow Thursday night to collect $4,004.20 for the polio fund, topping last year's mark by $4.20.

The Mothers' March on Polio is sponsored annually by the Sedalia PTA Council. Taking charge of this year's event was Mrs. Nathalia Poynter, civic chairman of the Council.

Over 270 mothers volunteered their time and work to go from door to door picking up the donations. The drive and the counting of the money was completed in a relatively short time considering that a majority of the gifts were of $1 and in silver.

One woman gave a roll of dimes and commented that she had saved her dimes for this particular occasion.

Several residents called The Democrat and Mrs. Poynter, asking that someone be sure and call on them. Calls were still being received this morning from persons having donations to make.

They Follow Collision That Kills Seven

Leaves 78 Injured After Wreckage Hits Crowded Schoolyard

VAN NUYS, Calif. (P)—A tide of protest was rising today against the practice of testing airplanes over populous areas as a result of the flaming crash of a huge airliner into a crowded schoolyard.

The reaction came within hours after the four-engine plane collided at 20,000 feet with a jet fighter yesterday, then came down in a screaming dive, breaking apart as it fell.

The accident, which took place as both planes were being tested, left seven dead and 78 injured.

In Washington, Rep. Edgar W. Hiestand (R-Calif.), immediately called for an investigation of flight-testing over populated areas. He asked that all test flights over Los Angeles be stopped, pending examination of the regulations.

Residents for miles around said the sound of the transport crash was "like an earthquake."

A blazing wing section exploded over the athletic field at Pacoima Junior High School, where nearly 100 seventh-grade boys in gym clothes were exercising.

The plane's flying fragments cut them down as they ran. Two were hurt fatally. The four men in the transport also were killed, as was the pilot of the fighter plane.

Hospitals said 28 persons were admitted, all but one of them pupils. Fifty other boys were treated and released, attendants reported.

Two other schools, a church and scores of residences for blocks around were damaged by bits and pieces of the plane as it burst like a fiery bomb over the residential area 20 miles northwest of Los Angeles.

In Washington, D.C., southern California House members united in a demand for an investigation. They said they would seek to prevent future test flights over populous areas. City and school officials joined in condemning the practice.

The big silver airliner, a DC7 being readied by Douglas Aircraft for Continental Air Lines, turned in a vast curve, spouting flames and smoke. As the angle of its dive steepened, it came apart piece by piece, filling the air with debris.

Brucellosis Test Program Is Organized

Veterinarians Meet With the Township Extension Directors

Federal and local veterinarians met at the county extension office Thursday evening with township extension directors to plan the official opening of the testing program.

Testing is to be started in the near future. The date of Oct. 1 was set as a goal to get the county on a modified certified brucellosis free basis. That means getting the infection down to 1 per cent of the cattle and 5 per cent of the herds. Any herds on plan A whose annual test is due before Oct. 1 will be tested as the area is worked.

The county was divided into five areas for the purpose of testing. Each area was assigned to a local veterinarian or team of veterinarians. The townships of Sedalia, Cedar and Dresden were assigned to Dr. R. E. Gouge and Dr. Vernon Goodnight. Sedalia will be the first one tested.

Dr. Marvin Crutcher will have Lake Creek, Flat Creek, Prairie and Longwood and will start in Lake Creek. Dr. Charles W. Monsees has Heath's Creek, Smithton, and Bowling Green and will start in Heath's Creek.

The southwest corner of the county was assigned to Dr. Groves and Dr. Stiles of Windsor. They have Green Ridge, Washington, and Elk Fork townships and will start with Green Ridge.

Dr. H. J. King of Sweet Springs has the northwest corner of the county. His assignment includes Blackwater, Houstonia, Hughesville and LaMonte. He will start in Blackwater.

A farmer will be working with each veterinarian, lining up herds to test on the days that the veterinarian can work. The men extension directors were in most cases given the opportunity for that job if they were interested. It was estimated that it would take four to eight weeks to finish a township.

Directors attending the meeting last night were Dean Knight, (Please Turn To Page 2 Column 3)

Traffic Claimed 40,000

Accidents Killed 95,000 Last Year, Safety Council Reports

CHICAGO (P)—The National Safety Council today estimated that accidents killed 95,000 Americans last year—including 40,000 deaths in traffic.

Both the over-all and motor vehicle totals were higher than in 1955. But the council reported that only a later tabulation of final figures will tell whether the traffic toll set a new record.

NSC totted up the bill for all accidents this way:

Killed — 95,000.
Injured — 9,450,000.
The cost — $10,800,000,000.

The cost includes wage losses, insurance, medical expenses and property damage.

The all-accident death total showed an increase of 2 per cent over the 93,443 killed in 1955. But the total has exceeded 100,000 in several previous years.

The estimated 40,000 motor vehicle fatalities represented a 4 per cent increase over 1955. A month ago the council had reported traffic deaths had established a new high mark.

But today it said that the tentative figure "cannot be called a new record." Instead, NSC referred to it as "virtually a dead-end heat with the all-time high of 39,989 established in 1941."

"Later figures on delayed deaths will revise the estimate," the council said. "And the total may be greater or less than the estimate of 40,000, which is rounded in accordance with sound statistical practices."

Delayed deaths are those which occur days or weeks after an accident.

The estimated December traffic death toll of 4,000 — unchanged from December 1955 — checked a rising trend. And, the council said, that development pulled the rug from under statisticians.

The council said traffic accidents in 1956 also caused approximately 1,400,000 nonfatal injuries and cost about $4,750,000,000.

One of each 18 persons in the United States suffered a disabling injury from some type of accident.

Other estimates of accidental deaths included 27,500 in homes, a drop of 2 per cent, and 14,300 at work, an increase of 1 per cent. Deaths in various specific classes included 20,000 in falls, a decline of 1 per cent; 6,800 from burns, an increase of 7 per cent; 5,900 drownings, a drop of 7 per cent; and 2,150 from firearms, a rise of 1 per cent.

The council said that, on the basis of preliminary data, there was no change in the traffic death rate per 100 million miles of motor vehicle travel — 6.4.

No Hurried Immigration Action Seen

WASHINGTON (U) — Congress showed no signs today of taking quick action on President Eisenhower's immigration proposals. Among both friends and foes, serious doubts were expressed about chances for even eventual enactment of anything like the whole program.

Chairman Walter (D-Pa.) of the House Immigration subcommittee said in an interview it will be "a couple of months" before the subcommittee schedules hearings on the suggestions Eisenhower made to Congress in a special message yesterday.

Chairman Eastland (D-Miss.) of the corresponding Senate subcommittee was out of the city, but there was no indication that the subcommittee will meet any time soon to consider the President's proposals.

Both Walter and Eastland are outspoken supporters of the provisions of present law under which immigration quotas are set on the basis of national origin. Eisenhower's proposals, while they would not do away entirely with this system, would substantially modify it.

As a result, the present ceiling of 154,857 quota immigrants would be increased by 65,000, and the number actually entering the country would increase even more. Nationals of Eastern and Southern European countries, now on short quotas, would have more chance to come to America.

Eisenhower wrapped into the same package proposals for admission of present-day escapees from Hungary and elsewhere and of persons who may in the future escape from "communist persecution and tyranny." An estimated 75,000 a year could enter the United States under parole.

These provisions seemed to have a much better chance of congressional approval than the proposed changes in the basic McCarran-Walter immigration law.

The President also proposed some liberalization of provisions affecting a fairly small number of hardship cases. These were comparatively noncontroversial.

Man Is Held For Break-in; Has Headache

Curtis F. Keightley, 41, was arrested by the officers in connection with breaking into the apartment of Mrs. Gladys Thomas, Kahn Bldg., Second and Ohio, about 12:10 a. m. Friday.

According to Mrs. Thomas, Keightley threatened them after he broke into the place and picked up several articles belonging to the family. According to her, when he began his threats her daughter Shirley, 16, picked up a pair of pliers and rapped him on the back of the head, cutting his head.

After he was taken to police headquarters and it was found the cut was bad, he was then taken to Bothwell Hospital, where Dr. E. L. Rhodes rendered emergency treatment. Eight stitches had to be taken to close the wound.

Keightley was then returned to the city jail to await filing of charges Friday morning.

Before Judge Willard Morris in police court, Keightley asked the charges be filed in the state court instead of the police court.

In police court he was charged with breaking and entering, but this was changed to disturbance of the peace, destruction of property and petit larceny. After this was told before Judge Morris, Keightley then remarked, "Judge, can you just leave them as they are down here and have them file on me in the state court? I'll plead guilty to breaking and entering."

Prosecuting Attorney Harold Barrick, who happened to be at police headquarters, indicated he would recommend two years in the penitentiary. Keightley remarked, "It'll give me time to break me of drinking."

He was taken directly to the court of Magistrate Frank T. Armstrong, where he waived his preliminary hearing and was bound over to the Circuit Court.

Morgan Moulder Says Foreign Aid Is Being Over Stressed by Ike

From Our Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON (U) — Congressman Morgan Moulder (D-Mo.) isn't wild about Ike's plan for the Middle East.

"I'm in a quandary," he said. It would put the country on the spot if Congress rebuffed the President, he said. But he wondered if the Administration wasn't over-emphasizing foreign aid.

President Eisenhower is requesting $200 million, no strings attached, to spend in the Middle East. He also asks Congress to authorize the use of American military forces to block communist aggression in that area.

"In a sense," Moulder said, "I think it's odd that the first important piece of business that reaches the House floor deals with foreign aid." He added that "We have many important problems here at home," and cited farm legislation as an example.

Accidents

Robert M. Neely, 62, Warsaw, was painfully injured Thursday night about 10:30 p. m. when his car crashed into a ditch north of Lincoln on Highway 65.

He was brought to Bothwell Hospital, where X-rays were taken, and he was found to have several broken ribs on each side. He was treated by Dr. E. L. Rhodes, Warsaw, at the hospital.

Trooper Pete Stohr investigated the accident. He reported Neely had told him he was going south on the highway and another car came toward him and, to keep from being hit, Neely turned to the right and off of the highway.

He was driving a 1951 Oldsmobile sedan, which was damaged.

Two cars sideswiped on Johnson County Highway J between Knob Noster and Whiteman Air Force Base about 11:30 p. m. Thursday, doing extensive damage to both and causing injuries to one person.

Mrs. Theresa Fielding, 27, wife of S-Sgt. Paul L. Fielding, 21, driver of one car, received minor cuts on her right leg and left hand. She was taken to the Whiteman AFB hospital where emergency treatment was rendered.

S-Sgt. Fielding was driving a 1947 Chevrolet tudor sedan and headed north on the blacktop road while a 1955 Pontiac sedan driven by A-1 Albert William Smith, 21, was headed south as they topped a small rise in the road.

After the cars collided they both continued in their general direction, the Chevrolet going into the ditch on the east side of the road and the Pontiac into the ditch on the west side. The left front ends and fenders on both vehicles were badly smashed and the right sides of the cars damaged.

David Goldsberg, 21, and George D. Marsh, 19, also of the air base were passengers in the car driven by Smith and escaped injury.

The Pontiac was pulled from the ditch and taken to the base while the Chevrolet was towed to the Wilson wrecking.

Trooper Pete Stohr of the State Highway Patrol investigated the accident and gave Fielding a Patrol summons to appear in the Magistrate Court in Warrensburg on Feb. 19.

Expect Unions To Reject Ike Wages Plan

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (U)—The AFL-CIO is expected to turn thumbs down today on President Eisenhower's inflation control plan to limit wage boosts to changes in productivity.

Members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council were reported ready to approve a policy statement blaming the current wave of inflation on high prices rather than on high wages.

Eisenhower in his State of the Union message to Congress several weeks ago expressed deep concern with rising living costs.

He called on business to be cautious in raising prices and on labor to avoid seeking wage boosts beyond what is needed to compensate for rise in productivity—or improving industrial efficiency—and to adjust for higher living costs.

The AFL-CIO economic policy statement was reported to contend that many factors beyond productivity and living cost adjustment must be considered in union bargaining for wage increases.

Companies making high profits, for example, the union leaders believe, should share the earnings in the form of higher wages.

The statement asks that Congress investigate the wage-price situation. Such a probe is expected to be undertaken by the joint Senate-Economic Committee in Washington.

The AFL-CIO council also is expected to adopt a new plan calling on Congress to broaden considerably the nation's Social Security program.

Judge Urges New Look At Alimony Payments

NEW YORK (AP) — A State Supreme Court justice urges a new look at alimony payments based on what he calls "net need."

Justice Samuel Hofstadter said the present system is unfair both to men and women.

Physically and mentally competent women, he said in court, should not be converted "into an army of alimony drones."

He described "net need" as the wife's actual financial needs, less her current assets and earning potential, in relation to a husband's ability to pay.

get De-Icer!"

It's in ^{both} Standard Gasolines

When weather's cold outside, moisture can condense in the fuel system, freeze, and shut off the gas line. Engine stutters, even "conks out." That's gas line freeze. Will Begin School Aid Talks Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP)—This year's big debate on federal aid to school construction will begin in a House subcommittee next Tuesday.

Rep. Bailey (D-WV) said hearings would take two or three weeks.

"What we're after is trying to get a bill together that we can stand by," Bailey told a reporter.

Bailey was named yesterday as chairman of the General Education subcommittee of the House Committee on Education and Labor.

He immediately announced the start of the hearings and said officials from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare would be heard first.

He would make no predictions as to chances for a school bill.

The House killed one measure last year after tacking on an amendment by Rep. Powell (NY) to deny federal aid to school districts which segregate pupils by race.

President Eisenhower sent a special message to Congress Monday urging quick action on a school construction bill and recommending $1,300,000,000 be granted to the states for a four-year program of federal aid. Other proposals, including bond purchases and support, would boost the total program to $2,220,000,000.

Eisenhower said he hoped the legislation "can be enacted on its own merits, uncomplicated by provisions dealing with the complex problems of integration."

Powell, a Negro, said he would continue last year's battle over public school segregation.

Rep. Kelley (D-Pa), author of a bill supported by Democrats last year, has introduced a bill to provide $3,600,000,000 in federal grants to the states for six years.

"We'll try to work out some kind of compromise between Kelley and the administration," Bailey said, adding some sort of compromise might be necessary to get the votes for passage.

Reports Order Placed For Jewel-Studded Cars for King Saud

DETROIT (AP)—More than 60 jewel-studded, custom-built Cadillacs have reportedly been ordered from General Motors for King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

Automotive circles said the cars would be air-conditioned and some would have one-way window glass, enabling passengers to see out without being seen.

Armour plate and special gun mountings are reported going on some; still others are being especially equipped for desert hunting.

GM's Cadillac Division would neither confirm nor deny the report.

Sources acquainted with the cost of producing such custom-built vehicles estimated the fleet would cost near a million dollars.

Pennsylvania Law Keeps Hungarian Doctor From Position

ORANGEVILLE, Pa. (AP)—A state law stands between a Hungarian refugee physician and the six-year hopes of this 600-person community for a resident doctor.

Mrs. Megargle, president of the Women's Civic Club, said the community had arranged an interview with the refugee physician at Camp Kilmer, N. J.

The meeting, set for tomorrow, was canceled after it was learned that the Hungarian could not begin immediate practice in Pennsylvania. The law requires a year's internship in a state hospital and a written examination.

Mrs. Megargle said she was writing Gov. George M. Leader to plead for relaxation of the requirement.

Police Chief Orders Course in Printing

DALLAS (AP)—Asst. Police Chief J. E. Curry ordered the police training school to give instructions in block lettering to rookie policemen. He took the action after courts, warrant offices and records personnel reported difficulty in deciphering handwritten reports—especially traffic tickets.

President Faces Task Of Naming Successor To Retiring Justice

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower had the task today of choosing a successor for retiring Justice Stanley F. Reed, once counted as a liberal and later a conservative member of the Supreme Court.

Reed's retirement was announced by the White House yesterday, the 19th anniversary of his service on the high tribunal. He plans to step down Feb. 25 because—as he told newsmen—"I'm 72 years old" and the "strain of unremitting exertion" demanded by his duties "no longer seems wise."

Colorado Students Complete Courses With Record Speed

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—Seventeen freshmen at Colorado School of Mines are whisking through their mathematics texts almost as if these were comic books.

By Dec. 5, after less than three months in school, they had completed a semester's work in college algebra and plane and spherical trigonometry. They also had begun courses in analytic geometry and calculus.

By May 24 they will have completed two semesters of work in those departments. Prof. Ivan L. Hebel, head of the school's math department, said if the 17 continue their fast work, they will polish off the remaining calculus and differential equations by Jan. 24 next year.

Enough To Make One Cuss

Charles Erwin Wilson, Secretary of Defense, certainly can get the country stirred up over off-the-cuff remarks which add contradiction to the questionable postulate that "a little inaccuracy saves a world of explanation."

In Wilson's case, there's a lot of explaining to do about his ill-advised criticism of the National Guard as a refuge for draft-dodgers during the Korean war.

Like a hidden stiletto swiftly drawn from its sheath, the Trumanesque word "liar" swishes through the nation's air. Public print is full of the ugly word directed at Wilson because of his loose language.

What if there were a few draft-dodgers seeking cover in the Guard during the Korean fracas. For Wilson to give the National Guard a blanket condemnation for this is like indicting all of our youth because two per cent are delinquents and 98 per cent are not.

We surmise our own Maj. Gen. John C. McLaughlin, who last week was decorated with a Croix de Guerre in a ceremony at the French Embassy in Washington, D. C., and all the local officers and National Guardsmen of the 35th Division must be gritting their teeth over Wilson's inexcusable criticism. Knowing what we all do about the 35th's honorable record in wars which took the lives of many of our good friends from Sedalia and Pettis County, we wouldn't blame our local Guardsmen if they became bitter or verbally explosive.

Hardly justifiable are Defense Secretary Wilson's barbs against an organization which numbers half a million citizen-soldiers in 5,500 units; whose membership had six Presidents of the United States; an organization which has fought for its country in every major war of our history; who had six out of eight American divisions rated "excellent" or "superior" by the German High Command in World War I; an organization which took part in 11 separate campaigns and 34 assault landings around the world in World War II; who had 160,000 men called to active duty and two Guard divisions fighting at the front during the Korean War; an organization whose honorable record goes back in our history 300 years.

For those who resort to untruths, or half-truths Teddy Roosevelt had words for them: "I have no use for liars, national, international or those found in private life."

To those persons, like Wilson, who are tempted to be over critical of the National Guard we would refer the comment of a man well known for his veracity — George Washington — who had this to say: "The citizen-militia . . . the guardian of our liberties, the bulwark of democracy."

An apology from Secretary Wilson might help at this juncture. But he would probably embroider one in a paraphrase of the words in a comic opera libretto, The Mikado: "I was merely indulging in corroborative detail before the House committee, intending to give artistic verisimilitude to a bold and unconvincing narrative."

Which in plain Missouri language would mean Wilson was again just shooting off his old bazoo.

Oil, As Influence, Works In Odd Ways

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—There is one major thread running through the warp and woof of American policy for the Near East as it affects the following rather remarkable events in and out of Congress today:

1. The manner in which Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas rammed the Eisenhower doctrine through the House of Representatives under a gag rule forbidding amendment. Regardless of the merits of the Eisenhower doctrine—and it has some—it should have been open to full debate and amendment. The man who prevented this was Rayburn. Joe Martin, the man supposed to promote the Ike doctrine, was lukewarm. Rayburn, who doesn't like Ike, was dictatorial and demanding that the House support him.

2. The fact that Sen. Lyndon Johnson, also of Texas, also supposed to be against Eisenhower, also demands that the Eisenhower doctrine be passed soon.

3. The fact that President Eisenhower is welcoming King Saud of oil-rich Saudi Arabia here just after he has refused to meet with the prime ministers of England and France; and that he took the rather unpopular step of greeting the king at the airport personally—the only time he has thus greeted any foreign visitor.

4. The manner in which the Eisenhower administration dropped criminal charges in the huge antitrust suit started against the oil industry by the Truman administration, and has dragged out the civil suit.

5. The interminable delay in the Justice Department's case against the Arabian-American oil group for overcharging the U.S. Navy to the tune of $67,000,000. These are the same companies which support King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

6. The loans, economic aid, and shipments of arms to Saudi Arabia at the expense of the American taxpayer.

"Protect Oil!" All of the above, some of them geographically unrelated, actually are woven together into the cardinal American policy, both foreign and domestic, which can be summarized in two words: "protect oil."

Critics also describe it as: "kowtow to oil." In some cases their description is quite accurate. For the State Department and the Texas leaders of Congress have gone to amazing lengths not merely to protect oil, but to give the oil industry all kinds of bonanzas the ordinary citizen, company, and taxpayer do not get.

When powerful Sam Rayburn cracks the whip over the House of Representatives to put through the Eisenhower doctrine without free debate or any amendment, it partly means that Texas oil friends have spoken. And when Sam refuses to permit any congressman who supposes the 27½ per cent oil depletion allowance, it definitely means that the Texas oil lobby has spoken. The Texas oil lobby can put Sam out of Congress any time it desires, merely by redistricting his 4th district and infiltrating it with Re-

Guest Editorial—

THE NASHVILLE (Tenn.) BANNER: Thanks, Judge. A New Jersey Federal judge made news the other day by suggesting to a young miscreant that there are better laws than those of formal statute, and better penalties than fine or jail, to deal with juvenile delinquency. The boy had been arrested upon complaint of his father "to teach him a lesson."

"I wish to tell you one thing," said the jurist. "That isn't the way my father would have handled such a situation in my home. A strap would have settled the matter within a matter of minutes." Woodshed justice is an old-fashioned prescription, but it worked and its time extended over several generations — long before courts were set up as a substitute for parental authority and discipline at home.

Thanks, Judge.

Ike Can Expect a Rougher Second Term

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—Is President Eisenhower changing? He shows signs of getting tougher, of more willingness to criticize. If so, he can expect to be repaid in kind and his second term will be rougher than his first.

A soft word turneth away wrath was the policy of his first four years. It worked pretty well.

But at a news conference this week he was unusually blunt twice within a few minutes: first, about Secretary of Defense Wilson; second about critics of his foreign policy.

He said stungingly Wilson made an "unwise" statement in suggesting the National Guard had been a refuge for draft dodgers. This was the sharpest rebuke he had ever handed a member of his Cabinet.

If he wondered how this approach would work, he soon found out. Mrs. Wilson told reporters Eisenhower's statement was uncalled for, and a pat on the back might have been more in order. This was the first time the wife of a member of his Cabinet had hit at him.

Secretary of State Dulles has been a kind of whipping boy for Eisenhower. Critics of the administration's foreign policy have, for some reason, been reluctant to go after Eisenhower. They beat on Sec. Dulles instead, and recently Dulles has been under the most severe criticism of his life, particularly from Senate Democrats.

At his news conference Eisenhower took full responsibility for all that Dulles has done. Then, having put Dulles critics' on notice that they have been criticizing Eisenhower all the time, the President blasted his critics:

"... These critics . . . don't bring out any particular project.

Looking Backward...

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO Wilmer Steeples, Maurice Choulett, Glen Brown and Waldo Falley of the Sedalia Producers Co., were in Columbia attending a two-day convention of the Missouri Farmers' Association.

1932 J. F. Cooney, St. Joseph, agent for the Missouri Pacific, was here visiting his son, Harry Cooney, and family, 1213 South Carr.

1932 The eight-room frame residence of J. W. Hailey, LaMonte, was destroyed by fire that supposedly originated from a defective flue.

1932 Buying of livestock began Monday at the stockyards constructed in southwest Sedalia, and being operated by C. I. Stafford and Sons.

FORTY YEARS AGO T. F. Sullivan, former Sedalia, was promoted to assistant superintendent of the first division at the Houston and Texas Central Railroad shops at Ennis, Tex.

1917 Leslie Wackher, student at the University of Missouri from Sedalia, was appointed as captain of the MU freshmen basketball team.

1917 H. M. Bryan, district manager of the Missouri and Kansas Telephone Co., and other company officials at the local offices, attended a banquet of Bell Telephone employees at Warrensburg.

1917 The home of Frank Berlin, a car inspector for the MKT was practically destroyed by fire. It was located at the corner of Saline and Summit.

They just talk about great blundering and lack of leadership. I have seen no proposals, no constructive proposals, for what even should have been done with the benefit of hindsight."

This in a way was Eisenhower taking off the gloves.

Some Democrats — particularly Senators Mansfield of Montana and Fulbright of Arkansas — have voiced criticism of the administration's foreign policy in a way which at the time they said they considered "constructive."

Was Fulbright "constructive" for them to say — as they have a number of times in the past year — that Dulles was talking out of both sides of his mouth and ought to follow a policy clearly stated, clearly understood and adhered to?

Senator Knowland of California, Republican leader in the Senate, congratulated Mansfield last April 18 when the Montanan, in one of many long reviews of administration foreign policy, said:

"We have failed, up to now, to come up with the right policy. I do not have the answer, but I hope that with our collective thinking we may give the administration some suggestions which will help them, in the interest of peace in that area of the world (the Middle East)."

Knowland said of Mansfield: "The senator approaches the problems of foreign policy with fairness, and he has made a very fine contribution to our foreign policy."

He said in the Senate last April: "I think the purpose of discussion . . . is at least to give voice to our views."

The Democrats have been very considerate of Eisenhower. He has now given them less reason to be by lashing out at them.

Sulfa Drugs Have Reduced Frequency Of Mastoiditis

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

For many years, up until the time of the discovery of the sulfa drugs, the schedule of almost any large hospital was likely to list several operations for mastoiditis every day. Now, this operation is much less common.

A letter from L. B. indicates that mastoiditis cannot yet be forgotten. He says he has had this on one side for at least 10 years and is convinced that his ear will drain chronically and its auditory perception will continue to decrease. He says that he is now 18 years old and for obvious reasons has become intensely interested in the subject and would like to know more about it.

There is a hard, bony protuberance lying back of the ear lobe which is known as the mastoid process. This is not solid bone, but contains small pockets normally containing air which are known as mastoid cells. When these cells become infected mastoiditis develops.

Mastoiditis usually develops from the spread of infection from the middle ear which is a small cavity lying just behind the drum membrane. When there is pus under pressure in the middle ear, the infection is likely to spread to the air cells of the mastoid.

In acute mastoiditis, the symptoms come principally from pressure of the infection and pus within the air cells. The area becomes painful, red and swollen; especially noticeable is the tenderness when pressure is put on the mastoid bone.

Chills and fever are often present and the fever may be high. The hearing is also somewhat impaired. At the time when the mastoid cells become involved, the amount of drainage of pus from the ear (which is usually present earlier) tends to become much more profuse. An X-ray picture is often helpful in diagnosing mastoiditis.

Since the discovery of the sulfa drugs and penicillin, many patients with severe infections of the middle ear are treated at once with these preparations so that the mastoid does not become involved. In addition to such medication, early and complete drainage from the middle ear is of great importance. This is aided in many cases by making a small cut in the drum membrane to allow the escape of pus. In chronic mastoid infections operation may be necessary.

There are several surgical procedures used, depending on the extent, duration and severity of the mastoiditis. As a rule, one of these — often combined with sulfa or good results.

Husband-Hunters Generally Fall Behind Fleeing Quarry

It isn't often that husband-hunting girls get a word of advice on the proper technique for husband-hunting from a man.

So when they do, it might pay them to give it a little heed.

"There isn't a bachelor who wouldn't prefer to be married but he wants to be the one who determines when and to whom."

"So it isn't smart for a girl to decide she can take matters into her own hands and force the marriage issue."

"The thing for a girl to do is to date as many men as she can and be as companionable as she knows how."

"It is women who want to settle down and start talking marriage before a man gets serious who take the fun out of dating and scare men away."

According to that advice—and remember it reflects a man's point of view—a girl will have better luck husband-hunting if she forgets she is husband-hunting and just goes along having as good a time as possible with as many different men as possible.

The idea seems to be that if she dates enough men and seems no more interested in marriage than they are, she will eventually find a man who decides he wants to take her out of circulation.

But remember, girls, he wants to talk you into marrying him.

Let him get the idea that you're trying to rope him in and he'll run. And once he starts running in the opposite direction no amount of chasing on your part is likely to put him in a marrying frame of mind.

A Dream Come True

Americans Visit Scenes Of Their Norwegian Heritage

(Editorial Note: Our correspondent is one of many Americans who have long dreamed of going to Norway where they have relatives. This is the first story of three such experiences.)

By CYRENE DEAR

TRONDHEIM, Norway (Delayed) — My son, Walter, and I flew from Stockholm, where he had been studying in the International Graduate School for English speaking students, to Oslo and then to Trondheim.

Trondheim has been called the heart of Norway and is the city where the Norwegian kings are crowned in the famous Nidaros Cathedral. We stayed in the Britannia Hotel and were delighted with its Palm Court and dinner music, roses on the table, beautiful linen and silver, excellent service and good food. We danced in the ballroom as the expert Norwegian fiddlers played modern as well as folklore tunes.

We walked around the town at 11 o'clock at night and it was still daylight. We stood on the bridge called Bakke Bru (which is my family name and is almost as common in Norway as Smith or Jones is here.)

The purpose of going to the heart of Norway was to visit my cousin, Anton Pynten, and to see my father's birthplace, in the village of Moraker, about 2½ hours by train from Trondheim and we had to go through the village of "Hell" to get there. I telephoned Anton's daughter, Astrid, and conversed with her in what was left of the Norwegian I had learned in my childhood. We understood each other very well. Anton met us at the station and I would have known he was a relative because he looked like an older brother—over six feet tall, straight as a ram rod, well groomed and eager to greet those two American relatives who had come across the ocean to visit him and could speak his language.

He had hired the only taxi in town and when we arrived at his home, the Norwegian flag was flying in the breeze. We were greeted by Astrid, his daughter, her husband Nils Olsen, and their son Alf, aged fourteen. Their home was an eight room frame house which had been in the Pynten family for many generations and had given its name to the area for several miles around. They had just accomplished a miracle — a sink and running water in the kitchen and were looking forward to modern plumbing throughout the house within a year.

During the occupation, the Nazis had encamped on the hill above the house and always helped themselves to anything they could get from the Pyntens. Antipathy toward the Nazis is still very strong but the attitude toward Sweden's neutrality has eased somewhat because the Swedes helped many Norwegians escape. However the Swedish neutrality is still a ticklish subject among the staunch independent and resisting Vikings.

While in Moraker, we found my paternal grandmother's homestead which was called Bakken; my fatherer's birthplace was called Tyholdt. We went to the little church, a precious little chapel artistically painted in soft blues, delicate coral and high lighted with gold. Walter played the organ while cousin Anton insisted that I stand in the beautiful carved pulpit. Later he was very touched as mother and son knelt at the altar in humble gratitude for their wonderful heritage. In the churchyard we stood at my grandparents' grave, three generations shedding tears over a departed ancestor.

It was hard to say goodbye to the Pyntens. They and all their friends came to the station to bid us goodbye as we boarded the fast, clean train back to Trondheim. Anton slipped a book of his own poems into my hand.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.

There is a great deal of suffering, sorrow and hunger in the world today. This hardship does not result from famine, crop failure or "natural cause" . . . results from human sin, the destruction of property, and murder of people which follow naturally.

Behind the development of this social cancer of dry rot of character is the denial of God. It is easy for people in Christian nations to criticize glaring sin in other nations, but we must all remember that one rotten apple can spoil the whole barrel.

If we in America allow hatred and selfishness to grow, our nation can become evil and corrupt. We must all be alert to God's will and to the daily application of His principles in our thought and action.

A small girl is having difficulty in understanding things people say and so she just uses things that are familiar to her that sound something like what other people are saying.

She learned the little song: "Jesus Wants Me for a Sunbeam" but when she sang it, it came out, "Jesus Wants Me For a Sun Bean."

Then when her grandmother said she had goose pimples, the little girl replied: "Sometimes I have ghost pimples, too." —H. L.

Rickey had loved the excitement of Halloween at the Melita Day Nursery, the funny things on the window, the decorations all over the place, the candy and Halloween favors. Now with the approach of Valentine Day, Mrs. Lucy Rabourn, superintendent, began decorating again. She was putting hearts on the window when Rickey happened to come in the room.

"Oh," he exclaimed with delight, his eyes getting big: "Are we going to have another Halloween?" —H. L.

Banquet at First Christian— Young People Observe National Youth Week

In observance of Youth Week the Pettis County United Christian Youth Movement Council is sponsoring a banquet Sunday from 5 to 7:30 p.m. The host church will be the First Christian at Seventh and Massachusetts. Young people from more than 14 different churches will attend.

The banquet speaker will be the Rev. William Butts, a popular worker with young people. Rev. Butts is pastor of the Smithton Methodist Church and zone director of youth work for the Methodist Church.

Master of ceremonies will be Wayne Brown. Fellowship singing, vocal and instrumental numbers by various young people and a dramatic worship service will complete the program.

The local UCMY officers are Susan Schien, president; Patti Moore, the vice president; Donna Marie Smith, secretary; Kenneth Williams, treasurer. The council is composed of three representatives (two youths and one adult) from each of the participating churches.

The theme of Youth Week is "Consider Your Call." The purpose of this observance is to help youth choose vocations in which they can serve Christ and help youth see how Christian faith influences all vocations.

This year marks the 14th annual observance of Youth Week. Protestant churches all over the United States participate in this observance.

The radio play, "Day of Decision," will be presented over station KSIS on Saturday at 9:15 a.m. The play is sponsored by the Pettis County United Christian Youth Movement Council as part of a nation-wide observance of Youth Week, Jan. 27-Feb. 3.

First Christian Honors Minister On Anniversary

At the close of the morning worship at First Christian Church last Sunday, an anniversary was observed when the church, in conjunction with the pension fund of the Disciples of Christ, presented their ad interim minister with an Honored Minister's pin.

Harold Barrick, vice-chairman of the official board, on behalf of the congregation, presented the pin to Mrs. Williamson and asked her to place it on the coat of her husband.

The Honored Minister's pin is presented to ministers of the Christian Church who have given long periods of service in the ministry. It was the 50th anniversary of the preaching ministry of Dr. Williamson. After a year in England, his birthplace, and two years in the Province of Saskatchewan in Canada, Dr. Williamson went to Iowa and enrolled in Drake University where he received his ministerial training.

Besides his early ministries as a circuit rider and student minister, he has served in churches at Union Mills, Mount Ayr, Guthrie Center and Fairfield, Ia., with a ministry at Chillicothe.

Of the 50 years of service, 27 were with the First Christian Church of Fairfield, Ia., where Dr. and Mrs. Williamson make their home.

Mrs. Williamson is an Iowa lady and they recently observed their 44th wedding anniversary. With the beginning of the ministry of the Rev. and Mrs. Harry Purviance on Feb. 17, the Williamsons will return to their home in Iowa.

Green Ridge High stopped Houstonia's ace scorer, Harris, at 28 points Thursday night to capture a 68-63 victory in the evening's only basketball activity in the PBCAA tournament at Green Ridge. The win placed Green Ridge in the consolation finals opposite Warsaw.

Two volleyball games were played, one deciding a championship final, and the other producing a consolation final. Green Ridge snared the championship final berth by plastering the Lincoln girls, 36-18.

Martin led the Green Ridge girls with nine points, while Owens headed off Lincoln's efforts with two tallies.

The consolation finals spot was nailed down by Smithton who bowled over a Hughesville aggregation, 23-13. Taking No. 1 in the scoring was Closser with six points for Smithton, followed by Phillips who led Hughesville with four.

Following Houstonia's Harris in the basketball points department was Durrill with 24 for the victorious Green Ridge squad. Walker polled 18 for Houstonia, and Ballard contributed 15 for the winning team.

The consolation champion in both basketball and volleyball will be crowned tonight. In basketball, Green Ridge will meet Warsaw at 8:30; and Smithton will vie with LaMonte for the volleyball consolation at 7:30. A volleyball semi-finals meeting will occur between Cole Camp and Houstonia at 6:30 to round out the evening.

LaMonte Raps Smithton In 90-52 Game

A strong LaMonte independent team put on a show of power Thursday night when it handed a Smithton independent a 90-52 beating at LaMonte.

After the first quarter, the outcome was never in doubt. LaMonte bounded ahead to a 15-4 advantage in the opening period, and followed with a 26-10 assault in the second for a 41-14 gap at the midway point. Third quarter scoring continued to go in favor of the rollicking LaMonte cagers, by a 24-16 tally, and the leaders wrapped it up in the closing stanza with a 25-22 edge and a final margin of 38 points.

A two-pronged attack by Harding and Burke led to LaMonte's easy conquest. Harding poured in a 25-point total while Burke backed him up with 22 markers. High for Smithton was O'Neill with 14, followed by teammate Wagenknecht who added 13.

18 Two-Hitters in National League CINCINNATI — Besides the two no-hitters pitched by Brooklyn's Carl Erskine and Sal Maglie, there were 18 two-hitters hurled by National League pitchers during 1956. There were 22 three-hitters and one one-hitter.

Minor League Chief Says Home Ownership Of Clubs Is Growing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Home ownership of clubs is growing, and far-flung farm systems are dwindling, George M. Trautman, minor league baseball president, said today.

A few years ago, practically every minor league team was a subsidiary or link in the chain of some major league organization.

But, Trautman said, today 53 minor league teams are home-owned, and have no ties with the majors. Another 125 have either loose or firm working agreements with the higher league clubs. Only 29 are owned outright by the majors.

"I surely cast my vote for this trend," the head of the National Assn. of Professional Baseball Leagues said. "These home-town-ers are the kind of people we need in baseball. I wish we had more of them."

"Home ownership puts more community pride into an operation than foreign (outside) ownership. However, we have a very fine relationship with a number of clubs that have foreign ownership, and we don't want to smack them down."

Second Part Of NFL Talks Held Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A discussion of the Players' Association, talk about possible expansion to a 14-team league and proposed rule revisions are on the schedule for today's second session of League meeting.

The 12 NFL clubs completed their annual 30-round player draft yesterday and today go behind closed doors in executive session to take up various problems confronting the league. Commissioner Bert Bell, who last night was awarded a $10,000 boost in salary to $40,000 a year and a $10,000 bonus for 1956, presided.

Bell was expected to submit the results of his two-day meeting with player representatives Kyle Rote of the New York Giants, and Norman Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams and their attorney, Creighton Miller, former Notre Dame football player.

The players ask for formal recognition by the owners and the league, a minimum salary of $5,000, expense money in training season, a $12 minimum for board and lodging between the end of the training season and the first league game, an injury clause guaranteeing a full season's pay and a shorter training season.

Among rules changes recommended will be:

To extend the goal posts some 25 feet above the cross bar to aid officials in judgment of field goals, a regulation requiring all visiting teams to wear white uniforms; a better definition of international grounding of a forward pass.

Allowing the punter only 10 yards behind the line of scrimmage to do away with too many air catches, a new out of bounds kickoff rule allowing the receiving team the choice of taking the ball at the spot it goes out of bounds or a second kickoff, and a rule allowing the receiving team to take the ball at the spot of an illegally recovered onside kick.

Among rules changes recommended will be:

To extend the goal posts some 25 feet above the cross bar to aid officials in judgment of field goals, a regulation requiring all visiting teams to wear white uniforms; a better definition of international grounding of a forward pass.

Allowing the punter only 10 yards behind the line of scrimmage to do away with too many air catches, a new out of bounds kickoff rule allowing the receiving team the choice of taking the ball at the spot it goes out of bounds or a second kickoff, and a rule allowing the receiving team to take the ball at the spot of an illegally recovered onside kick.

The players ask for formal recognition by the owners and the league, a minimum salary of $5,000, expense money in training season, a $12 minimum for board and lodging between the end of the training season and the first league game, an injury clause guaranteeing a full season's pay and a shorter training season.

Second Part Of NFL Talks Held Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A discussion of the Players' Association, talk about possible expansion to a 14-team league and proposed rule revisions are on the schedule for today's second session of League meeting.

The 12 NFL clubs completed their annual 30-round player draft yesterday and today go behind closed doors in executive session to take up various problems confronting the league. Commissioner Bert Bell, who last night was awarded a $10,000 boost in salary to $40,000 a year and a $10,000 bonus for 1956, presided.

Bell was expected to submit the results of his two-day meeting with player representatives Kyle Rote of the New York Giants, and Norman Van Brocklin of the Los Angeles Rams and their attorney, Creighton Miller, former Notre Dame football player.

The players ask for formal recognition by the owners and the league, a minimum salary of $5,000, expense money in training season, a $12 minimum for board and lodging between the end of the training season and the first league game, an injury clause guaranteeing a full season's pay and a shorter training season.

Perennial Story Comes To Television

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP) — There are some stories which are perennials without ever quite attaining classical stature. One of these is "Ruggles of Red Gap," which has been entertaining millions of Americans for nearly 50 years and now comes to television as a musical.

Showcase Productions will present it Sunday in color on NBC-TV (at 7:30 p.m., eastern standard time), starring Michael Redgrave, David Wayne, Imogene Coca, Peter Lawford and Jane Powell. Original music has been written by Jule Styne and Leo Robin for the Harry Leon Wilson novel which has been seen as a play and a movie and was recently re-issued as a paper-back book.

"Ruggles of Red Gap," you may recall, concerns a starchy

English valet who is won in a poker game in Paris many years ago by an American cattlemen and, to his horror, is taken to the wild west. There are some amusing twists before the story comes to a happy conclusion.

David Shaw, who wrote the television adaptation, was asked the other day why he believes "Ruggles" has endured so long.

"It's a story about the discovery—or rediscovery of America," he said. "The fact that the discoverer is a staid British gentleman gives it genuine humor."

In quite a different vein is another 90-minute color program to be seen on NBC-TV Monday (at 8 p.m., eastern standard time). "Mayerling" is a story that sounds familiar to many, but possibly is not. As a television production it is noteworthy as the vehicle Audrey Hepburn and her husband, Mel Ferrer, have chosen for their TV debut.

"Mayerling" is a stylized romance of the Hapsburg court in the 1880s. It concerns Prince Rudolf, son of Emperor Franz Josef, who falls in love with the lovely Maria Vetsera after he has been forced into a court marriage. The lovers are frustrated at every turn and end tragically.

Some of us have been known to expend great effort to see the late Robert Flaherty's magnificent motion picture: "Man of Aran." "Nanook of the North," "Elephant Boy," "Louisiana Story." Count yourself fortunate if you can tune to "OmniBus" (ABC-TV) Sunday (9 p.m., eastern) to see "Louisiana Story."

Some Will Spurn Weather Bureau For Ground Hog

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) — A lot of fairly intelligent people will pretend to turn a deaf ear toward the weather bureau tomorrow and look to an animal — the ground hog — for a long-range weather forecast.

In this northwestern Pennsylvania community an organization known as the ground hog club has been using the day as an excuse for a real wing-ding of a good time.

Tomorrow will be no exception. Samuel R. Light, a coal operator and president of the club, says the usual dinner and festivities will be held.

"We'll also have a ground hog prediction," Light said. Light says the ground hog day celebration idea actually was brought to this country by German settlers who apparently picked it up from their forefathers.

Some historical sources say Roman legions first heard of long-range weather forecasts on Feb. 2 while they were doing occupation service in Britain.

At any rate, sometime long ago, there was a superstition that if Feb. 2 was bright and clear more cold weather was due to follow.

Hennings Wants More Aid for Missouri

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hennings (D-Mo.) has called for more aid for Missouri's drought stricken farmers.

The Senator said the Federal government must go beyond extending Farmers Home Administration Emergency Loans to 26 Missouri counties.

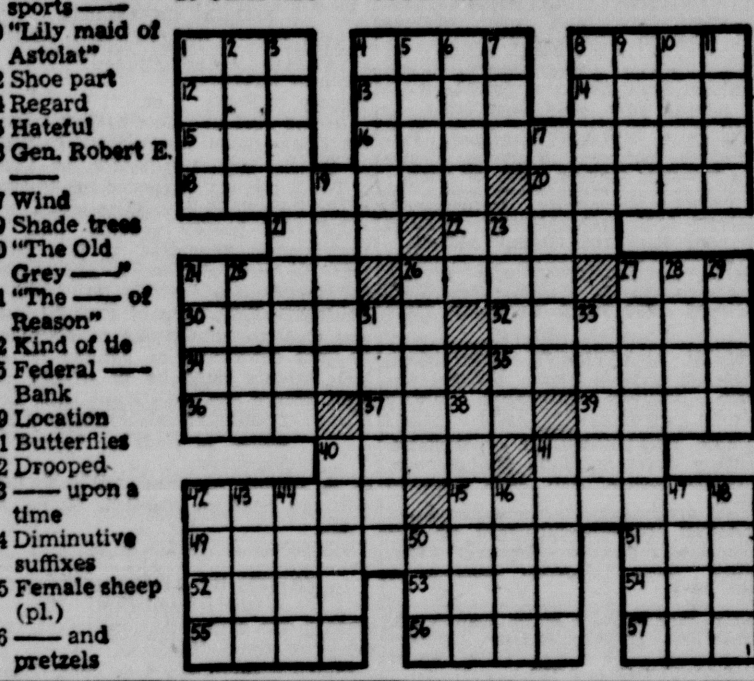

Hennings said that President Eisenhower's "token maneuvers on the drought scene hold no promise that anything realistic will be done to solve Missouri's problem."

great independence of women in this town," he cracked.

Aldo Ray said divorce seems common here because "the same ones get married over and over."

Jack Palace was one of the few who expressed belief the divorce rate is higher here. Said he: "Acting is a lot tougher job than most people think. A role can drain everything out of you. You come home beat, then you have to stay up until 11 to prepare for the next day's work. Where does that leave your family?"

"Naturally, you have to make some compromises to devote time to them. Then your work suffers. It's a tough situation."

What Do Stars Say About Divorce in Movie Capital?

By BOB THOMAS
(Last of three articles on divorce in Hollywood)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What do the stars say about divorce in Hollywood?

I put the question to several of them and got varying reactions. Some would not admit that there was any more divorce here than there is in Seattle or Saranac. Jane Russell was one of these.

"There's just as much divorce in any other town," she claimed. "The only difference is that more attention is attracted when actors break up their marriages. And it's the same ones who get married again and again. You forget the number of stars who marry only once."

She admitted there are some special stresses in actors' lives — "You're dealing in emotions all day and you're bound to have some strain when you go home." Her reply to the suggestion that average folk have less opportunity for extra-marital romance than stars:

"Are you kidding? Just walk in any cocktail bar. You'll see lots of it going on."

James Cagney was also unconvinced about the greater volume of divorce among actors. "But if there is," he said, "perhaps the answer is an economic one."

"When you've got a lot of money, it's no problem to get a divorce. But for people who aren't rich, it's uneconomical." Mitzi Gaynor said flatly she doesn't believe there is more divorce among actors. "It's true that acting is emotional work," she said, "but if you are mature, you can overcome that."

But are actors mature? "Actors are not sound people for marriage," Burr Lancaster admitted bluntly. "No artist is. By their nature, they must be selfish. It is hard for them to be able to stop the creative fount when they come home and devote themselves to their wives and children."

Lancaster said it takes a well-adjusted woman to accustom herself to being the wife of a star. But it is even more difficult for a man who is married to a star, he said, and the divorce ratio bears him out.

"An actress is living an unnatural life, as far as most husbands are concerned," he said. "They expect their wives to take care of the normal duties of home, children, etc. An actress can't do that. That makes tough ground for marriage to grow in."

Dick Powell was even anti-actress, though he's happily married to one.

"The divorce rate is due to the

Sisters Agree on One Item; Parents Don't Understand

By SAUL PETT
NEW YORK (U)—As the janitor in a small but exclusive sorority house, I am continually awed by the ability of young ladies to disagree.

If it were not that it came as a reflex action, one might say that the two young tax exemptions in our place have raised the business of consistent disagreement to a fine art.

Why they differ so frequently is a puzzle. Neither is favored or compared or made to feel competitive by their charming, understanding, intelligent parents. Still it has been going on a long time, even back when Kathy was 3 and Amy 6.

I remember a weekday at a deserted stretch of ocean beach. Nothing but clean, white sand in either direction for miles, no people except the four of us. And yet, after a tranquil three minutes, suddenly the piercing cry: "Hey, she's on my sand!"

This dispute over territorial rights and spheres of influence flourished, of course, while they shared a bedroom but continued even when they got separate rooms. It also prevailed on the road, especially after we had been driving for a long time, like 12 minutes.

Suddenly, from the back of the car, came the mortal scream: "She's on my side!" Examination revealed that Kathy's toe was dangling a full quarter-inch over the invisible frontier. Or perhaps Amy was merely breathing over the border. In such tense moments a hand merely brushing a sister's ankle could be the opening round of all-out war.

If asked to share something they like—a box of nuts, say—both would insist that the prize be counted out to make certain of exactly equal amounts. But first they had to debate the question of who would do the counting.

This insistence on exact count also extended to things they didn't like but were obliged to eat. Before enforced consumption, each carefully counted the other's peas across the table. If they had to die, they would make sure the portions of poison were precisely equal.

Kathy is now 11 and Amy 14, and while the form of their disagreement has changed, the degree hasn't. Thus, it was inevitable that if Kathy chose to worship Elvis Presley, Amy felt at the feet of Perry Como, and the efforts of their parents to seek agreement on a third choice, say Ezio Pinza, got nowhere. Each maintains her own shrine to her singer and neither is allowed to cross the corridor on pain of death.

It was also inevitable that when Amy found Stevenson banners to hang on her door during the last campaign, Kathy came up with Eisenhower signs on her door.

Then came the nightly raids across the hall in an attempt to tear down or redecorate the rival banners. When the violence was

Big Deterrent

VICTORIA, B. C. (U)—Because of the fear of atomic war, world peace is almost assured, Dr. D. H. Copp of the University of British Columbia said in an address here. A member of the Canadian delegation to the Geneva Conference on Atomic Power last year, he said nuclear power should be brought completely under control of the United Nations or a similar body.

finally subdued, there followed a long debate through the night and across the darkened hall—a debate distinguished more by its intensity than information.

Believe it or not, we have several chairs in our house, but when Amy announces, for example, on rising from a particular chair, "I'm sitting in THAT chair," it can mean only one thing. If she should return in 10 minutes or 82 hours, Kathy is supposed to yield by the frequently cloudy law of prior possession.

Both ladies are talkers and while they were taught—or asked—long ago not to interrupt another speaker, both have less than perfect parliamentary manners. Thus, if at dinner Amy has the floor and has had it a full five minutes, Kathy is apt to yelp suddenly, "She interrupted me."

Or, if on gaining the rostrum, Kathy should be so careless as to pause on a half-note for breath, Amy will inevitably plunge into the golden void. There follows a long, complicated debate on who interrupted whom in the first place, which, if you try to trace backward, frequently leads to multiple cause and effect dating back to last February.

It really is a remarkable performance. About the only thing the ladies agree on is that their parents don't understand them. Which, of course, is entirely true.

Mansfield Says Demos Offered Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said today "the record" will show he offered proposals for meeting the Middle East crisis months before the attack on Egypt.

He said his party stands ready to write changes into the Eisenhower Middle East resolution "to make it more effective."

Two days ago, President Eisenhower told his news conference that critics of Secretary of State Dulles have not pointed to any specific errors nor offered any constructive alternatives to Dulles' policy actions in the Middle East.

Dulles is urging quick Senate adoption of a resolution to empower the President to use military forces and economic aid to combat any Soviet expansion into the troubled area. It was approved overwhelmingly by the House Wednesday.

Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin, senior Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee, said Dulles has come through often-rugged Democratic questioning "with his record untarnished and his smile as bright as ever."

Mansfield, assistant Democratic leader of the Senate and a member of its Foreign Relations Committee, said critics of the resolution are "motivated by a desire to give it substance."

Mansfield said he offered suggestions for averting the Middle East crisis in a series of speeches inserted in the Congressional Record as early as last August.

He said he wants the United States to take the lead in getting the United Nations to set up a commission to control arms shipments to the Middle East, and to take a more active role in trying to settle the Arab-Israeli feud.

In the meantime, Senators Byrd (D-Va.), Russell (D-Ga.) and Long (D-La.) said they will fight to limit the resolution for authority to limit military forces against any open Communist aggression.

Byrd told newsmen he fears a provision under which Eisenhower would have a virtually free hand to spend 200 million dollars in available funds for military and economic aid may go much further than Congress suspects.

Elizabeth Taylor, Mike Todd Plan Gala Wedding Tomorrow

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor and producer Mike Todd plan a gala wedding tomorrow night if their application for a license is approved by then.

The plans call for the wedding and reception at a mansion in Puerto Marquez, about four miles from Acapulco. Miss Taylor had moved Tuesday into the house on a small, quiet bay. She is recuperating there from a spinal operation and was said to be greatly improved.

Their friends say the wedding will be as elaborate and colorful as a Hollywood production. Movie stars, producers and other celebrities are expected to fly down for it.

The couple found out around midnight Wednesday that Miss Taylor had been granted a Mexican divorce from actor Michael Wilding Saturday. Todd said a quirk in legal proceedings had delayed notification of the decision.

Woman Gets Degree After 36 Year Delay

PITTSBURGH (AP)—One of the happiest graduates at the University of Pitt's mid-term commencement exercises today was Mrs. Ruby Fredley who finally received the bachelor of science degree.

After one year at Pitt she passed an examination for teachers. Then she was married and raised a family. In 23 of the intervening 36 years since 1921 she's been a school teacher.

In 1947 Mrs. Fredley decided she should study again so she could obtain a B.S. degree. Since then she's been studying nights, Saturdays and summers.

Mobile Police Try to Prevent More Violence

MOBILE, ALA. (AP)—Mobile police are making an extra effort to prevent further racial incidents and violence, says Police Chief Dudley E. McFadyen.

McFadyen told about 100 Negro ministers yesterday that about 30 officers are voluntarily working during their off-duty time.

The meeting was at the invitation of Mayor Henry R. Luscher, also the police commissioner. McFadyen had recently discussed the situation with white ministers.

The chief told the police force last Friday that if it didn't stop racial incidents he would declare a department emergency and require officers to work 12-hour shifts seven days a week.

McFadyen cited provisions of state laws which provide the death penalty for persons convicted of bombing an occupied dwelling.

The ministers adopted a resolution promising to "use our best efforts to cooperate with the law enforcement officers in keeping good order in this city."

About 20 cross burnings, two dynamitings and two attempted bombings have been reported in recent months, mostly in sections where Negro and white homes adjoin.

Negroes have made no attempt at integrating bus seating here.

USDA May Take Action On Soybean Disease Within Thirty Days

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department may decide within 30 days what to do about a soybean disease in Missouri, Tennessee and North Carolina.

State officials, shippers and producers appeared yesterday at a hearing on the yellow dwarf disease of soybeans. The disease has infested Pemiscot County, Mo.; Lake County, Tenn.; New Hanover and Pender counties, N. C.

Federal quarantine of the infested areas was suggested, as was compensation payments to farmers who take their land out of soybean production in an effort to control the disease.

19 Girls Would Shave Head For Film Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Nineteen girls, pretty and young, are proof that an actress will do anything—even to shaving off her hair—for a good role.

Universal - International studios placed an advertisement in the trade papers which read:

"Wanted—immediately. Beautiful girl with long hair—willing to have it shaved off for a leading role in Universal - International's 'Stalin Is Alive.'"

Producer Al Zugsmith frankly was overwhelmed at the turnout. "I thought we would have to dress up Yul Brynner in girl clothes," he said.

The part calls for a week's work in the picture at $285 but Zugsmith said a 10-week publicity tour also is in the offing.

One of the prettiest of the group was Asa Maynor, 21, a New York actress. She had beautiful red hair.

"I'm really a brunette, and I was thinking anyhow of going back to my original color," she told a reporter. "This way it will come in natural and I won't have to pay for a dye job."

But she was too tall and didn't get the part.

The girl who did is Natalie Daryll, a pretty brunette. She had an advantage over the others—she was born at Samferopol, in Russia's Crimea. Now 24, she came to this country five years ago.

Her accent is real.

Mrs. Wilson Enters Conflict On N.G. Remark

DETROIT (AP)—"I've always made it a point to remain in the background," said Mrs. Charles E. Wilson when her husband was named defense secretary four years ago. "But I suppose it will be different now."

Today, the 67-year-old wife of the Cabinet member was very much in the foreground for her defense of her husband against what she called the criticism of President Eisenhower. It is the first time Mrs. Wilson has been embroiled in a public controversy at the capital.

The President had said at his news conference Wednesday that Wilson made "a very...unwise statement, without stopping to think" when he mentioned draft dodging in connection with the National Guard.

Mrs. Wilson termed the comment "uncalled for."

"I think the President should have stood back of Mr. Wilson instead of spending his time commenting on how wonderful Foster Dulles (the secretary of state) has been," she said.

"I think you need a little pat on the back once in a while. Mr. Wilson has been trying to do a good job, and I think he has done a good job."

A son, Edward E. Wilson, described his mother as a "loneliness when any of the people she loves are attacked."

HOW BIG IS SEDALIA?

The Sedalia Democrat and Capital is currently making a study of Sedalia's growth in an effort to assist the Audit Bureau of Circulation in establishing a more accurate population count for Sedalia.

Sedalia's official population count by the 1950 U.S. Census was recorded as 20,354. Since April 1, 1950, and through December 31, 1956, there have been 1,274 building permits issued for construction of dwelling units within Sedalia's city limits.

In addition on January 1, 1956, 216 dwelling units came on the city tax rolls from areas annexed in November, 1955.

At the present time there are 80 dwellings contiguous upon the city limits of Sedalia, which may be counted as city zone population.

Working from the official population count of 1950, which has been considered a low count by many Sedallians, on the basis of new construction and annexation, there are 1,570 new dwelling units in the Sedalia City Zone and when this figure is multiplied by 3.15—the size of the family unit for the State of Missouri (according to the U.S. Department of Commerce 1956 Statistical Abstract—Sedalia's population rises to 25,346.

While this may still be considered a low count, at least it more nearly represents Sedalia's present population.

What Does This Mean To You?

If you are a retailer, it means that Sedalia is an expanding market, with more consumers who have more needs for goods and services. It could mean that you should re-examine your advertising plans and gear them to capture your increasing share of Sedalia's expanding market.

As a retailer and advertiser, you have an opportunity not only to service the needs of a larger Democrat-Capital reader audience throughout Central Missouri but a greatly increased, fast-responsive Sedalia consumer market.

The Democrat-Capital produces more than 13,125 newspapers daily to answer the needs of this expanding market. These newspapers, because they are home delivered daily, provide you with a medium that will produce worthwhile results if used on a planned, consistent advertising program.

4,000 Boat Crewmen Start Strike Today

NEW YORK (AP)—A strike of 4,000 crewmen of tugboats and oil barges began today in a contract dispute over improved wages and working conditions.

The two-year contract of the crewmen, members of Local 333, United Marine Division of the National Maritime Union, expired at midnight.

Federal and city mediators, who conferred last night with both the union and management, represented by the Marine Towing and Transportation Employers Assn., scheduled another meeting today.

The city has been preparing for several days against effects of a strike, but fuel oil and coal supplies could be seriously affected should the walkout last more than a week. Supplies of sand, gravel and some foodstuffs would be affected by any prolonged stoppage.

Idled by the strike are some 300 commercial tugboats and 90 oil barges.

The union is seeking an 18 per cent pay raise, improved working conditions and fringe benefits. The employers have offered a 7 per cent wage increase this year.

The effect of the strike on ocean vessel traffic was not expected to become severe until the middle of next week. Cargo ships and smaller-sized passenger ships can dock unassisted unless wind and water conditions are very bad. The bigger ocean liners, including the liner United States due next Wednesday, can run into more trouble.

Airliner Smashes Into Schoolyard

Death Toll in Four-State Flood Area Reaches 12

Designated 'Disaster' Area by Ike

Thousands Left Without Homes; Rains Continue

By The Associated Press

President Eisenhower designated portions of Kentucky and West Virginia major disaster areas Thursday as low temperatures and rain added to the misery of thousands left homeless by floods that lashed four states.

There were eight dead in Kentucky; three in West Virginia and one in Virginia. Property damage in these states and in Tennessee ran to millions of dollars.

ORDERS FEDERAL AID

Eisenhower ordered the use of whatever federal funds are necessary for relief in those states. The Small Business Administration in Washington also designated 23 counties in Kentucky, West Virginia and Virginia as disaster areas.

Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., Army engineer from Cincinnati, said the worst of the flood is over in Kentucky "if we don't have any more heavy rain."

Smyser, who toured the disaster area Thursday, added that the "big job now is cleaning up and it will be terrific."

Gov. A. B. Chandler's office said it planned to send National Guardsmen into Prestonsburg, Ky., to halt looting there. The request for help came from Mayor Harry Sandige, who said two patrolmen had been assigned temporarily to the business district.

MILLIONS DAMAGE

Sandige said about 1,000 were forced to flee their homes and that damage would reach four million dollars. He said the town needed food, and medical supplies, principally typhoid vaccine.

The Army, National Guard and civilian teams already have set up typhoid vaccination centers in other hard-hit towns like Hazard, Perry County. Damage there was estimated at more than five million dollars.

Other devastated areas in Kentucky included Pikeville, Barbourville, Harlan and Neon.

Sandbagging was under way at Williamsburg in Whitley County, Ky., where the Cumberland River continued to rise. Mayor Virgil Bailey said the town was prepared for a record flood stage.

POOR COMMUNICATION

Elsewhere in the state, rain-swollen rivers and streams began retreating. Transportation and communication remained a problem.

At least 7,000 telephone and 103 long distance lines were out in the Kentucky floodlands.

Additional roads were closed as flood waters moved downstream in eastern and southern Kentucky.

The highway department said highways as far west as its Bowling Green district were under water, adding the listing was incomplete because of poor communications.

Mothers' March Tops '56 Total

Thursday night's Mothers' March on Pella exceeded the more than $4,000 total of last year's campaign for the March of Dimes, according to Scott Webber, Pettis County "Dimes" campaign chairman.

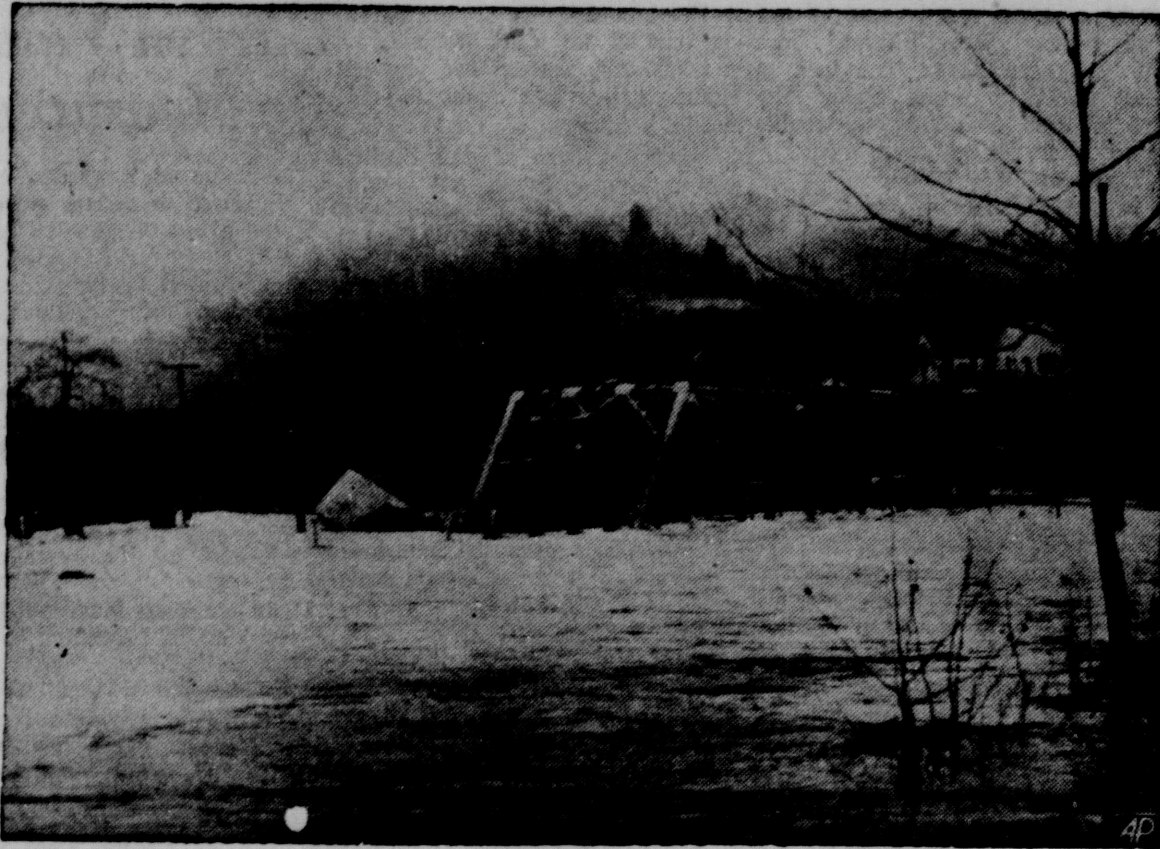

Although campaign workers were still counting the funds collected in the march late Thursday night, it was assured the total had topped the 1956 figure.

Mrs. Nathalia Poynter, civic chairman of the Sedalia PTA Council, was in charge of the door-to-door drive.

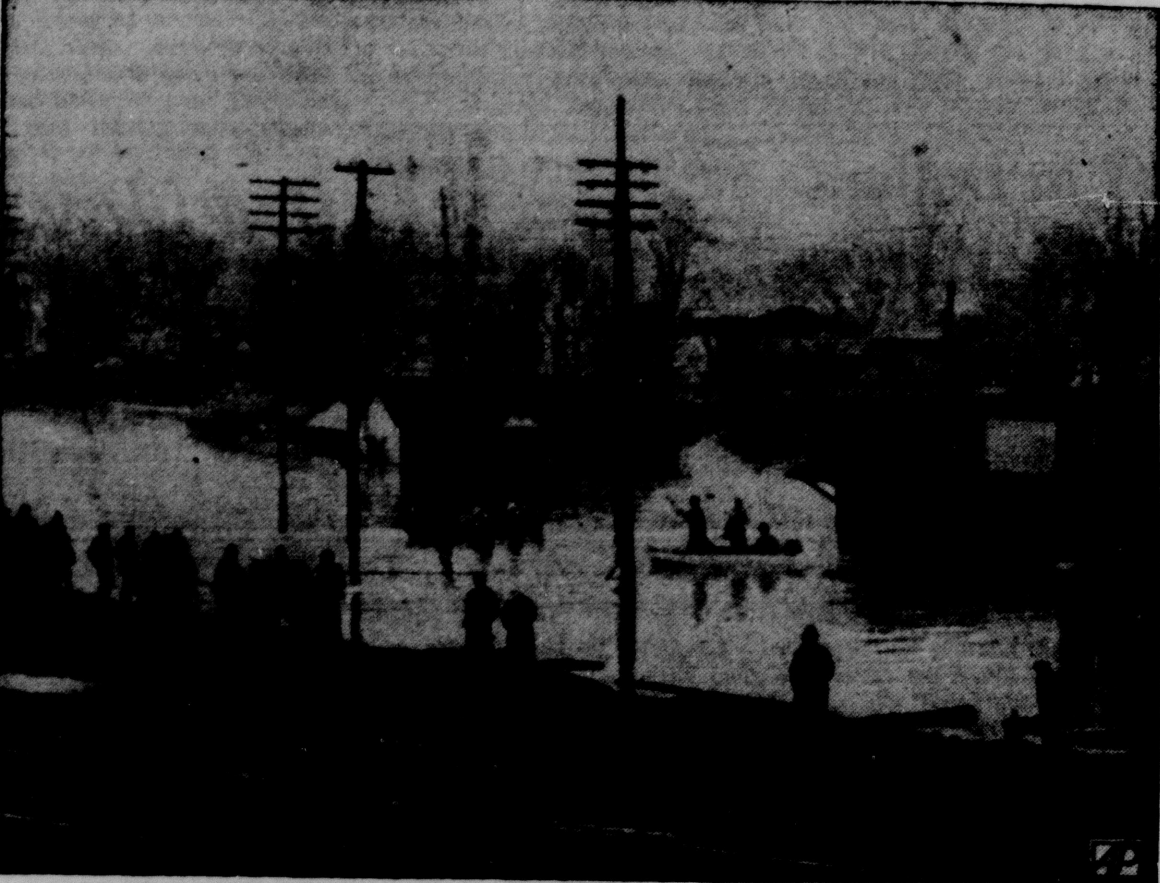

OK's Slum-Clearance Plan at Kinloch, Mo.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Approval of the slum-clearance program of Kinloch, Mo., was announced today by Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole.

The action makes the community eligible for federal assistance in carrying out the program.

FLOODED TOWN—Water of the Pound River lap over a bridge at Pound, Va., where flood waters of eight to ten feet deep were reported in the community's business district. Floods also harassed towns in southeastern Kentucky, Tennessee and West Virginia. (AP Wirephoto).

WATER, WATER EVERYWHERE—Small boats evacuate stranded residents from second floors of business buildings flooded by swollen Cumberland River at Barbourville, Ky. In background is dim outline of levee being built to prevent floods. Seventy per cent of town was flooded. Floods also harassed towns in Virginia, Tennessee and West Virginia. (AP Wirephoto).

Welcome to Refugees From Red Scourge

Ike Urges Congress Admit More Immigrants Into U. S.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to admit more immigrants to the United States, with a special welcome to fugitives from communism.

He called, in a message to the House and Senate, for an increase of 65,000 a year in the number permitted to come in.

He asked, too, for changes in immigration quotas that would open the doors to more Southern Europeans, many of whom have been kept out by the "national origins" restrictions of present law.

PROSPECTS IMPROVED

Eisenhower's recommendations were much like those he submitted a year ago, without success.

However, his tying the requests this time to the plight of Hungarian and other refugees from communism may cut into congressional opposition.

Rep. Hillings (R-Calif.) of the Immigration subcommittee introduced a bill to carry out Eisenhower's recommendations. Hillings said the greatest controversy would center on the number of additional immigrants to be admitted and "I am convinced the President is not wedded to exact numbers."

NEED FOR HAVEN

Eisenhower stressed a need to provide a haven for escapees from Communist tyranny, saying:

"I recommend that the Congress enact legislation giving the president power to authorize the attorney general to parole into the United States temporarily under such conditions as he may prescribe escapees, selected by the secretary of state, who have fled or in the future flee from Communist persecution and tyranny."

He said the number to be let in on parole should not exceed in any one year "the average number of aliens who, over the past eight years, have been permitted to enter the United States by special acts of Congress outside the basic immigration system."

65,000 HIKE SOUGHT

Eisenhower, in proposing an increase of 65,000 a year in quota immigrants, said the total should be based on the 1950 U. S. census in place of the 1920 census. The base now in use permits 154,857 a year to come in under quotas.

Eisenhower recommended that "the additional quota numbers be distributed among the various countries in proportion to the actual immigration into the United States since the establishment of the quota system in 1924 and up to July 1, 1955."

This would have the effect of admitting more Southern Europeans, because immigrants from that area have regularly filled their national quotas. Some Northern European countries have not used up their quotas.

The retail may set matters straight by mailing the money immediately to Webber, at the Sedalia Social Security office.

Byroade to Help on Policy

Ike Recalls Envoy

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31—(AP)—Henry Byroade, former ambassador to Egypt, has been recalled to Washington to help the Eisenhower administration prepare for a Senate investigation of Middle East policy.

Responsible informants disclosed this today as top State Department and Intelligence Agency officials began assembling a mass of documents to defend the administration's record against Democratic criticism.

NOW AFRICAN ENVOY

Byroade, who may turn out to be one of the most controversial figures in the investigation, is now ambassador to South Africa. He was transferred there after Egypt's President Nasser seized the Suez Canal July 26, touching off the present Middle East crisis.

As ambassador from January 1955 on, Byroade is known to have appealed frequently to the State Department to give or sell American weapons to Egypt to keep it from turning to the Soviet Union for military aid. The Egyptians concluded such a Red arms deal in September of 1955.

The Central Intelligence Agency, anticipating Senate questions about its role in the Mideast picture, is reported drafting a detailed report. This is aimed at showing that the agency successfully warned President Eisenhower of the grave Middle East dangers.

One of the main documents it is expected to cite is an estimate dated Oct. 28, some 24 hours before Israel attacked Egypt. This is said to have warned that such an invasion was certain. Predicting the assault would come in the Sinai desert, it said Jordan, previously judged as the most likely target, would not be hit by the Israelis.

ATTACK NOT PREDICTED

However, intelligence estimates given the President, informants said, at no time definitely predicted that Britain and France would attack the Suez Canal area. Such a British-French attack was deemed at best "probable" or "likely" but never forecast with the flat certainty of the Israeli invasion. The most positive estimate on the British-French role was given the White House Oct. 25, informants said.

New Code Adopted

AFL-CIO Asks Ouster For Corrupt Officials

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 31—(AP)—The AFL-CIO today ordered its 140 unions to remove from office any union official "commonly known" to be corrupt without waiting for them to be convicted in court.

This was among strict new rules adopted today by the AFL-CIO's executive council in its campaign to clean crooks out of organized labor.

The new rules designed to insure honesty among union leaders were contained in the codes drafted by an ethical practices committee, headed by Al Hayes of the machinists union, and approved by the council.

UNION CLEAN-UP SOUGHT

One of the codes deals with union responsibility to oust corrupt and immoral officials, a second with safeguarding health and welfare plan money and the third with union men having questionable private business connections.

Besides adopting the code, the council issued a statement protesting President Eisenhower's welcome to America of King Saud of Saudi Arabia. It charged Saud is a slave owner, has tortured his subjects and barred American military and civilian personnel who are Jews from his country.

LASH AT SAUD

"While the American government showers honor on King Saud," the council statement said, "he's busily engaged in plotting against the free world. . . we cannot effectively oppose the slave labor of Communist regimes while paying tribute to the owner of chattel slaves in Saudi Arabia."

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, told reporters national unions will be expected to enforce the new ethical practices code among local unions. He said threatened expulsion from the AFL-CIO will be the weapon held over unions to compel compliance.

Three airmen from Whiteman Air Force Base were injured about 12:45 a.m. Thursday in a three-car accident. Extensive damage resulted to the cars which collided due to the slick pavement on Highway 50 just west of the Jerry Brown Service Station.

A-2c Thomas Edward Basnet, 19, driver of a 1953 Pontiac sedan, suffered head cuts; A-2c Onofre A. Garcia, 22, suffered cuts under the chin; and A-2c George D. Marsh, 19, suffered cuts over his eye.

The accident occurred as the Pontiac came upon a 1952 Buick sedan, driven by A-2c Francis J. Rich, which was pushing a 1951 Chevrolet coach driven by S-Sgt. John Willie Griffin, all headed west.

The Buick was jammed into the rear of the Chevrolet, doing damage to the rear of the Chevrolet and the front end of the Buick, the rear of the Buick was smashed in when the Pontiac collided with it. The front end of the Pontiac was smashed.

Basnet and Marsh were riding in the front seat and both were thrown forward into the dashboard of the car. Marsh was knocked unconscious and was believed to have suffered a concussion.

The three injured airmen were taken to the hospital.

Slippery Pavement Blamed for Mishap Near Brown Station

Three airmen from Whiteman Air Force Base were injured about 12:45 a.m. Thursday in a three-car accident. Extensive damage resulted to the cars which collided due to the slick pavement on Highway 50 just west of the Jerry Brown Service Station.

A-2c Thomas Edward Basnet, 19, driver of a 1953 Pontiac sedan, suffered head cuts; A-2c Onofre A. Garcia, 22, suffered cuts under the chin; and A-2c George D. Marsh, 19, suffered cuts over his eye.

The accident occurred as the Pontiac came upon a 1952 Buick sedan, driven by A-2c Francis J. Rich, which was pushing a 1951 Chevrolet coach driven by S-Sgt. John Willie Griffin, all headed west.

The Buick was jammed into the rear of the Chevrolet, doing damage to the rear of the Chevrolet and the front end of the Buick, the rear of the Buick was smashed in when the Pontiac collided with it. The front end of the Pontiac was smashed.

Basnet and Marsh were riding in the front seat and both were thrown forward into the dashboard of the car. Marsh was knocked unconscious and was believed to have suffered a concussion.

The three injured airmen were taken to the hospital.

School Program 'Underfinanced'

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 31—(AP)—Rep. Joseph M. Tanner (D) of Jackson County said today the state's "school foundation program is sadly under-financed" and new sources of revenue must be found.

By resolution he asked that the Missouri House of Representatives set up a special committee to seek new sources of school money and to "pass on any other propositions which may enhance the financial status of said foundation program."

The resolution was referred to committee.

At Chamber Meeting Thursday

Retail Merchants Select Store Holidays for Up to November 1

Holidays on which local stores will be closed up to Nov. 1 were decided upon at the meeting of retail merchants Thursday morning at a doughnut and coffee session at the Bothwell Hotel. Presiding at the meeting was Harry Naugel, director of the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce who introduced Don Weller, chairman of the store hours. Weller presented the following holidays on which his committee had decided the stores should close and the retail merchants voted to accept the plan. The holidays will be Thursday, May 30, which is Memorial Day; Thursday, July 4, Independence Day; Thursday, July 22, closing at noon, which is Sedalia Day at the Missouri State Fair and Monday, Sept. 2, Labor Day.

Copies of the proposed promotion calendar for 1957 which also included promotions for January 1958, were given each merchant and upon the suggestion of Albert Zurcher, Jr., the month of February, 1958, promotions was also added.

This year's promotion calendar has everything on it. A committee to plan the promotions met twice and anything that was suggested for a promotion was put in the calendar. In explaining this Damon Hieronymus stated that every promotion planning program he had ever participated in before had started with a negative basis. Some merchant wouldn't like this promotion and some other merchant wouldn't like that promotion. This time, he said, it was on a positive basis with the thought

Collides First With Jet Craft In California

Five Plane Crewmen Perish, At Least 1 Student Killed, Some 45 Other Youths Hurt

VAN NUYS, Calif., Jan. 31—(AP)—A giant airliner crashed like a bomb into a schoolyard full of playing children today after colliding with a jet fighter at 20,000 feet over populous San Fernando Valley.

Hours after the spectacular tragedy—it occurred in perfectly clear weather and was witnessed by residents all over the surrounding Los Angeles basin—the casualty toll still was uncertain.

There were about 75 boys in gym suits frolicking on the athletic field of nearby Pacoima Junior High School when the monster liner, trailing smoke and spurting flames, smashed down with a force felt throughout much of the valley.

The four men aboard the transport were killed. One of the two in the jet was killed. At least one student was killed and an estimated 45 or more were injured. Both planes were on test flights.

FALLS LIKE TENPINS

The children were bowled over like tenpins. After the first shock came a rain of fragments—bits of aluminum, wreckage of every kind. A church and school across the street were badly damaged. Another school three blocks away was peppered. So were houses for miles around.

Dazed, shocked children, some whimpering and some calm, picked themselves up. Some didn't arise. Teachers rushed out with blankets to cover the injured.

An armada of ambulances took the children to hospitals all over the valley.

Meanwhile, tower operators at airports heard these final chilling words from the stricken DC7 transport:

"My God! We're going to hit . . . We're going in . . . Tell my wife . . . Then silence."

PARACHUTES TO SAFETY

The jet survivor, Radarman Curtis A. Adams, 28, of the F89 Scorpion, parachuted into nearby Glendale. He said at a hospital where he was treated for burns and bruises:

"We had just completed the second of three passes we were making to test our radar. I saw

Robert E. Moon, 37, Kansas City, whose body was found in an automobile near the Fairmount business district, Kansas City, Wednesday morning, was a former Sedalia, son of Mrs. Bertha Moon, 923 East Broadway, and S. P. Moon, Kansas City.

An autopsy at Kansas City Wednesday night revealed death was from bleeding from a forehead cut. A pathologist for the coroner's office stated the wound did not puncture or fracture the skull. Shock was also listed as a contributory cause.

The Jackson County sheriff's patrol and other investigators were still seeking to learn how Moon received his fatal injury.

Billy J. Bain, 27, of 604 South Huttig avenue, Kansas City, in whose car Moon was found, told Lt. Billy C. Morton and John Weinberg of the patrol that he did not see Moon after he left him at 10 o'clock Tuesday night. He said Moon asked at that time to sleep in Bain's car.

Andy Halastik, 9904 Westport Road, Independence, told the investigators he saw a man at Huttig and Highway 24 at midnight Tuesday with blood on his face. The man was crawling and Halastik said he helped him up. He said he went to a nearby store and when he returned the man was gone.

Three puzzling aspects prompted investigators to push their investigation.

Renewed Bid for Aid

Blair, Drouth Group to Meet U. S. Drouth Inspector Today

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 31—(AP)—Gov. James T. Blair Jr. and the Missouri Emergency Drought Committee will meet with a federal representative tomorrow in a new effort to get emergency federal drought aid.

Blair said he would preside over the conference with Harry Thomas, field man for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, who is in Missouri to make a resurvey of drought needs.

Blair said he would "urge him as strenuously as I can to make a complete re-examination."

PROF IN SURVEY

He said he was sure a complete resurvey of the situation would show that Missouri farmers—some of them suffering from the fifth straight year of drought—were entitled to federal help.

So far Missouri pleas for release of federally stored grain for use as feed in the drought area have been ignored.

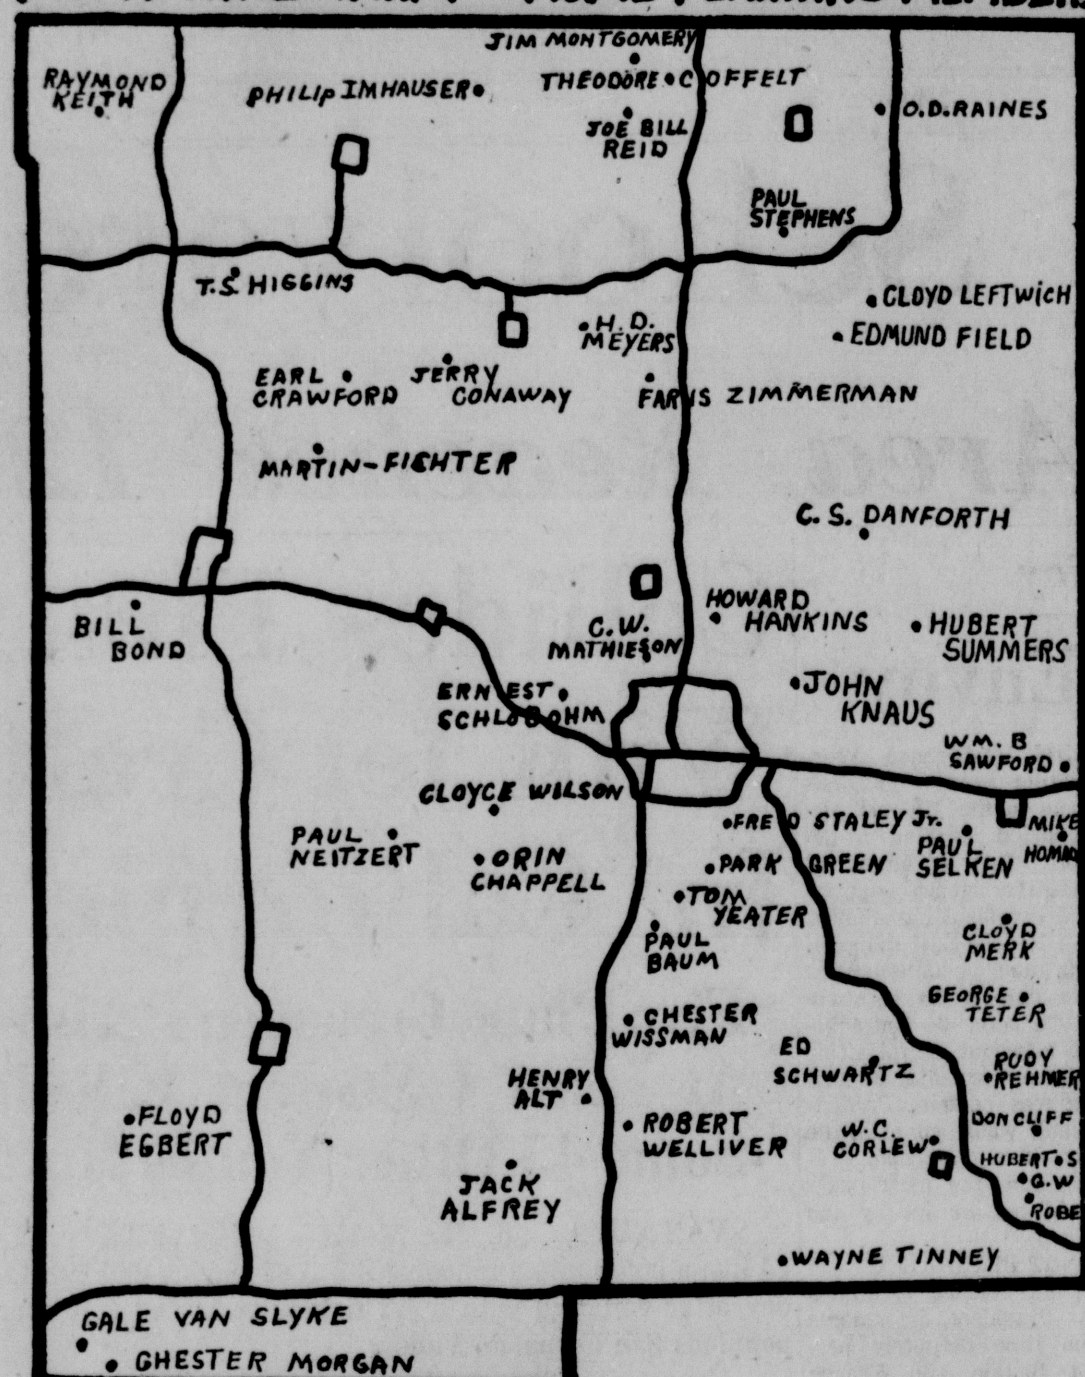

Meeting with the drought committee tomorrow will be L. C. Carpenter, who served as chairman when he was state commissioner of agriculture and is now a representative of the Missouri Farmers Assn.

COLBERT INVITED

Also invited is Murray C. Colbert, former state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Chairman who has been succeeded on the committee by Dietrich Monsees of Sedalia as ASC chairman.

Blair said several Green County representatives also have been invited. He named Clyde Clubb, Green County agricultural agent, and John Faucett and Carl Wickstrom of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce.

FORTY NINE FARM HOME PLANNING MEMBERS

The Farm and Home Planning Association year begins July 1 and ends June 30. The present membership is 49 families. There is a $15 membership fee.

These 49 families represent nine community groups. Lloyd Lewellen, associate county agent, is in charge. Each of these community groups will hold five meetings in their homes during the fall and winter months.

During the winter five county-wide dinner meetings are held for the Farm and Home planning families, with each family furnishing two main dishes, bread and butter sandwiches, and their own utensils. Three such dinner meetings have been held this winter, all at the Horace Mann School lunch room on the second Tuesday night of the month.

At the first meeting, in November, the Flat Creek group was host, with Chester Wissman presiding. The topic for the evening was farm safety, with C. E. Stevens, extension engineer from Columbia, as guest speaker. Mr. Stevens gave an interesting illustrated talk on tractor safety, and showed a film on corn-picker accidents.

In December, with the Hughesville group sponsoring, the evening was devoted to recreation. Jerry Conaway presided, and Mrs. Chester Wissman and Miss Opal O'Brien assisted in leadership of games. The January meeting was sponsored by the Lake Creek group, with W. C. Corlew presiding. Guest speaker was Larry Dings, an IFYE (International Farm Youth Exchange) student who has recently returned from France. He showed slides of France, mostly agricultural scenes, and told of many interesting French customs and farming practices. Mr. Dings resides on a farm near Appleton City.

The February meeting will be held on the 12th, and will be sponsored by the Prairie group, with the Sedalia Bell Telephone Company featured on the program. Information will be given on the new dial telephone system soon to be in effect in our area, and a new film made at the 1956 State Fair will be shown.

The Community Group Meetings are held during the day in the homes from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Each family brings a pie or sandwiches with the host family furnishing the drink. This type of refreshments allows for the minimum amount of time lost at noon for eating, and is easier for each family to prepare. Subject matter being discussed this winter covers water management, livestock, yards and gardens, crops and farmstead arrangement.

The first meeting was held on water management. In the morning the host family's farm was walked over by the group, and in the afternoon each family presented their revised plan for terracing and waterways in a scale drawing of the farm.

The second community meeting was on livestock and winter rations. Plans were figured to give proper protein and lowest feed cost. The "block system" was applied to each family's farm to determine the labor load, capital and income for each livestock enterprise.

The third meeting is being conducted by the Home Agent, Miss Opal O'Brien, on yards and gardens. Rotation gardens and the use of new approved varieties can make your garden a better source of food for improved health and food dollar economy. The basic principals of landscaping are also presented at these meetings.

The fourth meeting will be on crops, and 1956 performance yields will be given on varieties of hybrid corn, oats, and grain sorghums. Again the "block system" will be used to determine the labor needed, capital required, and expected income for each crop grown by each family.

The fifth meeting will be on farmstead arrangement. Each family will be given a scale drawing of the host family farmstead to revise. The farmstead will be walked in the morning and in the afternoon each family offers their revised plan on a pegboard, using model buildings and fences.

At each community meeting the agent and host family also present

Proper Landscaping Can Enhance Beauty of the Home

Attractiveness and beauty are the things considered in determining the difference between a house and a home.

Unpainted buildings, cluttered yards, weeds in place of grass, no flowers to greet the family and broken down trees tell the visitor some one lives in the farm house but apparently are not very proud of it.

An attractive farm house and the landscaping of the grounds designed so as to direct a visitor's attention proves the place is a home and the people living there are proud to be associated with it.

Landscaping can add much interest and enhance the beauty of the home through proper use of trees, shrubs, flowers and lawn and blend the house with the grounds to give a restful picture. Convenience and usefulness are necessary for a good living and can be achieved along with a pleasing appearance to increase the enjoyment of the home grounds.

The first step in an improvement program is a clean up of the area. The future plantings and development can be visualized more easily.

Cut any dead or badly diseased or damaged trees and prune all dead wood from trees and shrubs. Poorly located flower beds or shrubs, especially those located in the center of the lawn, should be removed. Determine what plants are worth keeping and do away with the rest. Some of the good plants may be used in other plantings according to the development planned.

Repairs to the house, out-buildings, and fences should be made as they will add to the neat appearance of the home. If the foundation of the house or porch needs repair, it should be done at this time. There are many attractive and useful ornaments, such as window boxes and lattice work, which may be constructed inexpensively to cover an unsightly part of the house and to add beauty. Painting will add the finishing touch to the repairs and perhaps this is the time to consider a complete painting of house or fence.

A cleaned up area will present a basis from which to make additional improvements. All such improvements must follow some organized pattern or plan if they are to increase the beauty and usefulness of the home grounds.

For the average farm family, the development of the home grounds is a progressive process, with a few additions being made each year. This makes possible the best use of family interests, abilities and time, as well as providing a common enterprise to which each member may make a contribution. Developing the home grounds over a period of time calls for some method of keeping the final goal in mind so as to reduce waste effort and expense. A plan or sketch is the best means of being certain that all the work is progressing toward one goal.

A well organized plan does not need to be an expensive one as their plans and the climax of each meeting is when all plans and ideas are put into the one plan that the host family considers the most workable on their particular farm. With the assistance of the agents, plans are drawn to scale of the revised plan, and left with the family to guide them as they rebuild and remodel toward their ultimate farmstead, water management system, garden location and rotation, yard landscaping, livestock or cropping system.

Sewing Pays Off in Dollars And Personal Satisfaction

Three hundred fifty-seven extension club members from 34 extension clubs made a total of 1,561 dresses valued on the average of $3.40. The amount of money saved on these dresses was $2.70 each or a total of $2,654.70. The smallest amount saved was 85 cents and the most saved was $10.

Sixty-eight clothing leaders from these extension clubs attended four all-day workshop meetings where they received their training in taking measurements, altering patterns, selection of materials, making a dress for herself, fitting a sewing book, making a wrist pin cushion, and putting in a zipper correctly.

These leaders in turn took the lesson to their club where interested members participated in workshop meetings under their leadership.

Forty-one of the 65 clothing leaders modeled their dresses at the Fox Theatre, April 30, as a part of the National Home Demonstration Week activities. A tea followed the program honoring these leaders.

The older 4-H club girls also participated in the project by serving as judges in selecting the dresses made by the extension club members in their workshop meetings. A score card was used, the dress was judged for construction and then modeled. The top 75 per cent were selected to model in the County Style Show on Achievement Day. The number modeling on Achievement Day was 81 from 26 clubs. Mrs. Ralph Thomas, clothing leader from South Abell Club served as moderator for this Style Show. Mrs. Ted Dabner, Striped College Club, took movies of this event.

Twelve extension club women appeared on a TV style show with the home agent on Monday night, Sept. 26, prior to County Achievement Day Sept. 29. The women were: Mrs. George Harvey and Mrs. Bruce Claycomb, Longwood; Mrs. Walter Rissler and Mrs. Glenn Miller, South Abell; Mrs. Edwin Williams, Mrs. Joe Williams, Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. Julian Fowler, Hughesville; Mrs. Olyn Rugen and Mrs. R. E. McCowan, Flat Creek; Mrs. Cecil

Wet Spring Could Eliminate Threat—

Survey Shows Pettis County Has Heavy Chinch Bug Infestation

Chinch bugs were of importance in several areas of the state in 1956 and on several crops including small grains, corn, grain sorghums and sudan grass. Results of the overwintering survey show Pettis County as one with very heavy numbers.

Trouble in 1957, will depend largely upon spring weather — a wet spring could eliminate the threat, while a relatively dry spring would be favorable for chinch bugs. To keep losses at a minimum, try to avoid planting corn or sorghums next to small grain. Observe closely migration from small grain and use chemical barriers before infestation of other crops occurs.

If small grain is heavily infested, spray the grain to kill the bugs before they have a chance to migrate to corn or sorghum.

Grasshoppers Are a Threat
During 1956 grasshoppers caused considerable damage in several southwestern counties, a few west central counties, and most of the northwest and north central counties. Severe damage over most of the state was avoided by favorable growing conditions from mid-June to mid-August. By the time of egg laying in August and September, hopper numbers had declined in most areas except in the southwestern counties.

Damaging numbers of grasshoppers can be expected in 1957 in most of the southwest counties and on local farms or small areas of most west central, northwest and north-central counties. If we have an exceptionally dry spring and summer, hoppers could be rough over most of the state.

Cool and wet weather at hatching time in May and early June would help reduce the coming season's grasshopper problems. A dry season — particularly a dry June and July — will cause hoppers to move into crops early and damage would be much greater than the same number of hoppers would cause if rainfall were adequate throughout the summer.

Control recommendations will remain about the same as last year, but strict observation of the proper time interval between application and use of the treated crop must be followed to avoid residue problems.

Armyworms May Migrate

There is no way to predict the 1957 problem since most of our armyworm moths migrate from the southern states. The lack of fall growth of small grains may reduce the possibility of trouble over much of the state.

Outworn May Bother

Again, we have no way of accurately predicting coming troubles. However, we do know there was a moderate to heavy fall flight of the dingy-cutworm moths and localized outbreaks in pastures may occur in the central and northern areas of the state.

Sod Webworm Damage Pastures

An extremely heavy flight of webworm moths occurred last fall. Therefore, judging from the past two seasons, these sod webworms may heavily infest pastures over much of the state. When infestations are heavy, large areas of these pastures can be killed by the worms eating the grass just at or slightly below the ground level.

Spotted Alfalfa Aphid

Overwintered As Live Aphid
This serious pest of alfalfa apparently successfully overwintered in extreme southwest Missouri in 1955-56. All indications now are that in May again do so in the southern quarter of the state unless we have a very severe January and February. It also overwinters as a live aphid, not in the egg stage as does most other aphids.

Regardless of whether it overwinters in southern Missouri we can expect trouble this coming spring by the winged migrating forms entering the state probably from the southwest. Just how severe it may become this spring depends largely upon the temperature and abundance of predators such as ladybird beetles.

Spring seeded alfalfa will have to be watched closely for this aphid as well as pea aphids. This will be especially true in the southern half of the state. Remember, it takes only one or two spotted alfalfa aphids per plant to kill alfalfa seedlings.

Heavy numbers of pea aphids were present late this fall in the northern third of the state and their numbers gradually declined as one progressed southward.

Their abundance this fall indicated another pea aphid outbreak next spring. Most of the pea aphid outbreaks are accompanied by a cool to cold, dry spring. Such combinations of weather factors hinder the buildup of aphid enemies such as ladybird beetles and fungus diseases.

These aphids seriously damaged thousands of acres of alfalfa last spring over the state as a whole. Total loss from pea aphids was much greater than from the spotted alfalfa aphid. We are afraid the pea aphid will again be a serious pest this spring.

From the time growth starts in the spring, alfalfa should be watched closely for an aphid build up. Don't wait until damage is severe before starting to spray.

When large numbers are present, spray immediately when weather permits. Temperatures must be 60 degrees Fahrenheit or above, and wind velocities below 10-12 miles per hour.

764 Exhibits Entered In Achievement Day

A total of 764 exhibits were entered at the Pettis County 4-H Achievement Day held July 18, 19 and 20. A total of 373 blue ribbons, 282 red ribbons, and 109 white ribbons were awarded. While the number of entries was not as great as in the past there was a very high degree of quality in the work exhibited.

Pettis Farm Gains

According to Sudan grass seed sold by three Sedalia firms the 1956 seeding (5244 acres) was nearly twice as much as 1954 (3000 acres) but only half the 1955 seeding of 11,000 acres. Figuring that the increase over 1954 was worth $10 per acre over the very sparse pasture many folks had, that extra Sudan pasture was worth $22,440. However if they had matched 1955 plantings the gains from Sudan would have been four times larger.

Pettis Farm Gains

The addition of 120 pounds of ammonium nitrate to bluegrass pasture gave an increase in dry matter up to the first of June of 1452 pounds (2541 to 3993) per acre. On that basis the addition of $4.50 worth of nitrogen fertilizer per acre would increase the carrying capacity of the permanent pastures of Pettis County by 60 per cent.

Pettis Farm Gains

Apparently the 1956 Pettis County goal of 1500 acres of new alfalfa was reached with sufficient seed reported sold to plant 1512 acres. These 1512 acres should produce 4500 tons of alfalfa next year. At even $20.00 per ton, that will be $90,000.

Garden Value Can't Always Be Measured By Dollars

The value of a garden cannot be measured in dollars alone.

Home grown vegetables have a place in every farm family's plan. A well-planned home garden furnishes fresh tasty vegetables during the growing season; canned, frozen or stored vegetables the year around and a generous supply of the vitamins and minerals needed to provide good health for the family and reduce the cost of the food bill. One-half acre of garden is worth approximately $250 to $300 for the average size family.

There are many important points to consider in producing a successful garden.

First provide a high level of soil fertility by having a soil test made at least every four years. Plow or disk in the fertilizers the tests show the soil needs to produce good crops. This will establish a basic fertility level which can easily be maintained.

Choose varieties that suit the taste and health needs of your family. Include an ample supply of greens, yellow vegetables and tomatoes. Plant at least one vegetable you have not tried before.

Keep your garden fully occupied throughout the growing season by making several plantings of short season crops like lettuce, radish, spinach, mustard, green beans and corn.

Draw a plan of your garden and map out the plantings according to the vegetables to be planted.

Control plant diseases and insects and harvest vegetables at the right stage of maturity.

Best results will be obtained by planning a two-acre garden. Locate two areas of about equal size, preferably near the house. One area is used to grow vegetables and the other to grow green manure crops. Plan to plow under two green manure crops a year. The two types of crops are then alternated between the two plots from year to year.

The advantages of the two-acre system are: you will have much less trouble with weeds. It is easier to maintain fertility and tilth of garden soil in the two-acre system. It reduces insect and disease control. You can fall plow and be ready for early spring planting. More nutritious vegetables will be harvested for the family food supply.

Dwarf-Detecting Method Is Proving to Be Success

Dwarf calves — a troublesome and expensive headache of purebred beef cattle breeders — seem likely to become less of a problem as a result of University of Missouri research.

On-the-farm trials of a relatively simple and inexpensive test are proving successful under practical conditions, announces John Lasley, University animal husbandry scientist. The test is designed to detect culprit cows responsible for dwarf calves.

Results from these field trials have upheld original experimental results secured from tests with University beef cattle herds where carrier animals were detected successfully. The test was first announced in mid-summer.

The test, using insulin injections, is a result of research work carried by a team of four University graduate students under Lasley's and D. T. Mayer's, agricultural chemistry department staff member, guidance. Students developing the test were Bill Foley, Goodman; John Massey, Lebanon; Art Johnson, Kansas City, and Mike Millicevic, Lake Wales, Fla. Foley is now a university staff member.

Using the test, the group found highly significant differences between "carrier" cows, pedigree "clean" cows, and dwarf calves when the test was applied to each. Lasley describes a known "carrier" cow as an animal that has produced a dwarf calf. A "clean" cow is one that has a pedigree free of the dwarf stigma.

Since August 1, the Missouri workers have been testing known carrier cows and pedigree clean animals in privately owned commercial and purebred beef cattle herds over the state. Altogether, more than 175 animals have been tested.

The test, as developed in Missouri, uses insulin injections as a means of putting animals to be tested under stress. In original testing at the University, such injections brought a strong and swift increase in a number of white blood cells in the blood stream of pedigree-clean animals.

Reaction in animals known to have produced a dwarf calf was noticeably slower and weaker. And, Lasley says, the white blood cell count of a dwarf under insulin stress increases very little and at a very slow rate when compared to a clean animal.

Variations in the kind and number of white blood cells are the key to the Missouri test.

In one field test, 16 Hereford cows in a commercial purebred herd were used. Eight were known carriers and eight had a dwarf-free pedigree. Using the test, these 16 cows were separated accurately with one exception — one pedigree-clean cow tested similar to carrier animals.

This cow could have been a carrier or some other unknown factor could have caused a response similar to carrier animals, Lasley points out. In the many cattle the Missouri group has tested, only a few individuals have failed to give a clean-cut test.

A retest on these individuals has been of value in the final interpretation of the test.

Some Angus cows have also been tested by the Missouri workers. In general, the Angus responded in a similar manner to Herefords.

The first step in the carrier-detecting test is to draw a blood sample from the animals jugular vein. Then, using the bleeding needle, insulin is injected into the blood stream.

Following the insulin injection, two additional blood samples are taken at exactly one and two hours after the insulin treatment. These blood samples are used to trace the pattern and speed of the white blood cell increase and the changes in different kinds of cells.

In the testing process, extreme care is taken to insure that all of the insulin is given intravenously. And, a commercial insulin preparation containing zinc insulin crystals is used since slower acting insulin forms might not give the desired response.

The Missouri group stresses the importance of the correct insulin dosage, of the timing of drawing the blood samples, and of making accurate white blood cell counts. The cell counts can be made on the farm but practice is needed to make counts correctly. This is especially true on the second and third blood samples where the important cells could be easily overlooked.

The group remains optimistic over the test's possibilities. Both Hereford and Angus breeders have shown great interest and have offered the use of their herds and facilities to do additional testing.

Facts About 4-H's

The 4-H Club work in Pettis Co. was carried on in 1956 by 579 4-H Club members enrolled in 31 4-H Clubs. They were under the leadership and supervision of 252 adult 4-H leaders and 95 junior leaders.

Pettis Farm Gains

The 42 miles of terraces constructed in Pettis County last year will protect 1040 acres at an annual gain of $5.00 per acre or $5200.00. The 29 terrace outlets and five structures are really insurance that the terraces will give continuous service without trouble.

Burglars hauled off a safe, typewriter and adding machine. The safe later was found abandoned with a note scribbled across the front of a burglary policy: "This is a good, big joke. Ha. Ha. Ha." The burglars had pried open the safe, only to find the policy and a few old coins.

Mrs. Homer Russell McKeehan

Mary Frances Brown Exchanges Vows With Homer McKeehan

Miss Mary Frances Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Brown, Route 5, became the bride of Homer Russell McKeehan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McKeehan, LaMonte, in a double ring ceremony performed Saturday evening, January 19, at the Olive Branch Baptist Church by the Rev. Robert L. Gross.

Miss Joy Smith and Miss Anita McMullin lighted the candles. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Glenda Fletcher sang, "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer" accompanied by Mrs. JoAnn Blaylock.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of white satin. The princess style dress featured long fitted sleeves, a deep V neckline and full skirt. A band of shirred satin held her fingertip length veil. She carried a white Bible adorned with pink and white carnations and ribbon streamers. She also carried a white linen handkerchief with crocheted edging of lover's knots.

Miss Wanda McMullin, the bride's only attendant, wore a turquoise street length dress and her corsage was of white carnations. Jimmy McKeehan, Sedalia, served as best man and ushers were Leroy McKeehan and Wesley Brown.

Viennese Music Presented To Music Club

Members of the Helen G. Steele Music Club met Wednesday afternoon at 2 p.m. at the Heard Memorial Club House to hear a program titled "Let's Meet in Vienna."

This imaginary trip became almost a reality as Ruth Ann Yunker, who has recently returned from Vienna, took her listeners on a tour of this, one of the oldest and most important cities in Europe.

Vienna became an unrivaled cultural center as a result of the Archduchess Marie Theresa, who reigned from 1745 to 1780, enthusiastic patronage of the arts.

Among the composers attracted to the court was the German, Christoph Gluck. Gluck's work created a widespread interest in opera and helped Vienna achieve the prominent position in the operatic world which it still holds. Miss Yunker then took her listeners to the Vienna State Opera House which has always been able to attract singers and conductors from all over Europe. Furthermore it has a vast repertoire which covers 200 years of operatic history and ranges in style from the melodramas of Wagner to the comedies of Offenbach.

Mozart and Haydn are the best known composers who lived in Vienna during the reign of Marie Theresa.

The listeners were then taken to an opera theater located in one of the beautiful parks where they heard lovely Viennese music.

The tour concluded with a visit to one of the coffee houses and wine cellars.

Interspersed through the talk, Miss Yunker presented local members who performed compositions written by Viennese composers.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. F. Yancey, life president of Mrs. Theodore Gardner.

Mrs. R. C. Maag and Mrs. Abe Rosenthal acting as co-chairman.

Receiving hostesses were: Mrs. Howard Roberts, Mrs. Robert Kerley, Mrs. Robert Long and Mrs. A. H. Wilks.

Recordings of Viennese music greeted the guests as they arrived at the Club House.

Mrs. Al Miles, program chairman, announced the next meeting will be a supper-program, Feb. 6, titled "Folk Music and Dances of Missouri." Co-chairmen are Miss Eva Evans, Mrs. Edgar L. Knight and Miss Florence Hert.

The program was as follows: "Sonata in E Minor," Haydn, Miss Ruth Ann Yunker; Barcarolle, from Tales of Hoffman, Offenbach, Miss Florence Hert, and Mrs. Ralph Carrel, violin, Mrs. J. W. Watts, accompanist; Moments Musicaux, Opus 94, Nos. 2, 3, 4, Schubert, Miss Ruth Ann Yunker; "Adele's Laughing Song," from Die Fledermaus, Strauss, "Vienna, My City of Dreams," Siczynski, Mrs. Jack Herndon, soprano, Miss Ruth Ann Yunker, accompanist; Capriccio, Opus 76, No. 1, Intermezzo, Opus 118, No. 2, Rhapsody, Opus 79, No. 2, Brahms, Miss Ruth Ann Yunker.

Parents Can Help in 4-H Club Work

A 4-H Club cannot be successful without the full support and cooperation of the parents. Some parents never attend a 4-H Club meeting or participate in the activities that the 4-H Club members have welcomed them to attend.

To help remedy this situation, one of the first things a 4-H parent can do is to learn what 4-H is about, its purposes and objectives and the work required of the members. Often times, a parent could have guided the 4-H member in completing his or her project work if they knew that the member was to make four articles in Woodwork I or three articles in Clothing I.

The general requirements in 4-H are attend at least six community meetings, attend a majority of the project meetings, make the required articles in your project or have done the work required and turn in a project record at the end of the year for each one of the projects taken.

A parent may offer to be a leader in the 4-H Club, furnish transportation when needed, help to get project material, or help with refreshments.

You can help your child select a project that he or she will like, one that the member has the ability to do, and one for which you can furnish the facilities and materials.

In a few cases, parents have done their child's project work for them. Of course, we know that this is to be discouraged as the child does not learn in this case. The 4-H member "Learns by Doing." A parent should give encouragement and guidance in projects but place the full responsibility for the actual work on the boy or girl.

Another important way to help is to see that he or she has a way to go to community and project meetings.

Give your boy or girl an opportunity to participate in local and County activities such as Achievement Days, 4-H camp, 4-H Sunday, National 4-H Club Week, and 4-H fun night.

Promote an attitude of good sportsmanship by maintaining good sportsmanship qualities yourself. If your boy or girl did not win a blue ribbon, try to find out why, but it may be that the quality of work wasn't as good as it could have been.

Parents can help a lot by showing appreciation to the 4-H community leaders and project leaders in your club. They are busy but they have volunteered to give their time to your children so that they may have the same opportunities as those in other communities.

Pettis Farm Gains

Another Pettis County goal was five more Grade A producers or Grade A buildings. As report from the Grade A processing plants showed 6 buildings had been constructed. Figuring that these folks had shifted from Grade C to Grade A, milked at least 10 cows, with an 8000 pound production, the additional income from the higher pay scale would amount to nearly $1,000 per farm per year.

Patricia Smith, Francis Deady Recently Wed

Lee Soxman performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and close friends.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Lee Soxman played "I Love You Truly" and "Because".

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Barrick attended the couple.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor.

The couple is now at home at 2508 Plaza.

County Agent Has Busy Year in '56

The work of the county extension agents and the Agricultural Extension Service in Pettis County is chiefly the extending of information from our College of Agriculture out to Pettis County farm folks.

Equally important are the methods by which it is extended so that farm folks will not only accept it but also that they may know how to use it to improve farm income, to save labor and soil and to have a more satisfactory living for the farm family.

Methods used this year to extend that information included (34) the Home Economics clubs with 816 members, (31) 4-H clubs with 579 members, a Farm and Home Planning Association with 49 members, the making of (755) farm visits and the holding of (429) meetings.

The distribution of (5416) 4-H and other circulars and bulletins, the making and receiving of (498) phone calls, the receiving of (3721) office calls, the use of (853) news articles or stories prepared by the agents, the making of (336) radio broadcasts and 30 television appearances.

Some comparisons with a year ago show a 65 per cent increase in farm visits and 16 per cent more phone calls as compared to 10 per cent less office calls. Many of the extra farm visits and possibly some of the extra phone calls were made as part of the Farm and Home Planning program which was active for a full term for the first time in several years.

The drop in office calls and increase in phone calls may be due too, to crowded parking conditions near the office. A weekly television show was started on May 21, so the number of television appearances jumped from four a year ago to 30 in 1956.

Junior Leadership Is Popular Project

Thirty-eight 4-H junior leaders attended a training meeting Jan. 12 at the Public Library to learn what they could do as a junior leader and making out their plan of work.

Charline Lindsay, state 4-H club agent, conducted the training. Miss Lindsay pointed out that the first thing a junior leader needs to do is to enroll in the junior leadership project just as any other project, then talk it over with the 4-H leaders, select a phase of leadership to be carried out, make an outlined plan, follow through with the plan, adding to, adjusting, and carrying out the plan, and turn in a project record at the end of the year.

Miss Lindsay goes on to say that qualities needed are imagination, initiative, self-confidence, enthusiasm, courage, sincerity of purpose, respect for people, consideration for others, willingness to share, willingness to council, and a sense of humor.

Miss Lindsay outlined the phases in which a junior leader may choose from as follows:

Project Phase—You may help the adult project leader and younger members in a certain project that you have had experience in, present demonstrations or lessons relating to the project to women's clubs and civic groups, or help with exhibits as the fair or County Achievement Day.

Health and the Activity Phase—You can serve as chairman of the health or the activity committee, help plan goals relating to the health or club activity program, help 4-H members prepare and give demonstrations and talks relating to this subject, and can make posters, promotional talks, public exhibits, and surveys that may influence the community.

Recreational phase—You may serve as chairman of the club's recreational committee, teach members how to lead recreation, assist with the county 4-H recreational events.

Citizenship Phase—Help 4-H members conduct better meetings, help promote the IFYE program, help people to have more respect for property and the flag, and promote public safety.

Organizational Phase—You can help younger members with record keeping, demonstrating, preparing exhibits, and judging, assist the 4-H community leader, help with publicity, help to organize new 4-H clubs, and help to recruit new 4-H members.

The 4-H junior leaders attending the meeting were as follows: Beaman Arator 4-H Club, Virginia Lee Grimes and Eva Mae Wilkie; South Abell, Judy Brown; Hughesville, Wanda Williams and Cathy DeBord; Flat Creek, Patty Ball, Jeannette Edmundson, Bill Ball, Joe Welliver, Donald Welliver and Zora Snow; Striped College, Carol Shirley, Leland Finley, William Finley, Donald Shirley, Patty Rodewald, Mary Bohon, Irene Shipley, Sandra Hilburn, Caroline Staley, and Mrs. Ted Dabner, (leader); Longwood Neighbors, Dean Raines; Eldorado, Dana Gordon and Mrs. Dar Gordon (leader); Tanglenook, Delta Reine; Maplewood, Linda Turner, Priscilla Ellis, Beverly Higdon, and Mrs. James Ellis (leader); Georgetown, Virgil Meredith; Quisenberry, Rose Ann Mergen, Rose Lee Mergen, Glenda Rhoads, Clifford Chappell, and Larry Wilson; Windsor Working Workers, Glynna Faye Elliott and Mrs. Joe Elliott (leader); Smithton, Carol Griffith and Willa Ann Sawford; Manila, Gaylon Alfrey and Janice Riecke; and Prairie Ridge, Mary Kay Hayes. A visitor, Wayne Thomas, assistant county agent from Henry County, was present.

Junior leadership is a project for older 4-H members with some experience in 4-H. Members who enroll in the project are given the title of junior leaders. To be eligible to enroll in the junior leadership project a member must have completed at least two years of club work and be 14 years of age.

As a junior leader, a 4-H member gets more out of 4-H work. They get more chances to participate in county and state activities. By helping others they help themselves.

Supreme Court Justice Reed Retires at 72

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—Justice Stanley Forman Reed today announced his retirement from the Supreme Court. He said "the strain of unremitting exertion" required by his duties no longer seems wise.

Reed was 72 years old Dec. 31. A Kentucky-born Democrat, he went on the high tribunal 19 years ago today, by appointment of President Roosevelt. A new Dealer when appointed, he came to be regarded as a member of the court's "conservative bloc."

In retirement he will draw his full salary of $35,000 a year.

In a longhand note to President Eisenhower, the justice made known his desire to retire on Feb. 25. The President in a reply letter said he wished to tender his congratulations on your long and splendid record in public service.

Eisenhower also commended Reed's "dedication and devotion that are so much a part of your reputation."

Chief Justice Warren in a statement said Reed had made "a great contribution to the court."

"We will miss both his wise counsel and his genial disposition," Warren stated.

Announcement of Reed's decision to quit caused immediate speculation on his possible successor. Names of former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, Leonard W. Hall, the retiring Republican national chairman, and Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell were among those mentioned promptly.

Reed's retirement was the second in the court's present term. Justice Minton, Democrat, retired Oct. 15 and was succeeded by Justice Brennan, also a Democrat, on Oct. 16.

Eisenhower now will have the duty of making his fourth appointment to the Supreme Court, his earlier appointees being Chief Justice Warren and Justice Harlan, Republicans, and Brennan.

Buchanan Judge Receives Formal Ouster Notice

ST. JOSEPH, Jan. 31.—State Supreme Court Marshal Roy Cherry today served formal notice of ouster on Buchanan County Presiding Judge John C. Madgett.

Madgett, a Democrat, postponed an appointment to be on hand when Cherry arrived from Jefferson City.

The ouster had been ordered Dec. 10 by the Supreme Court. On Jan. 14 Madgett's motion for a rehearing was denied. The removal order was issued yesterday by Supreme Court Clerk Marion Spicer.

Madgett after accepting service of the order issued the following statement:

"I consider this a victory for the St. Joseph News-Press and Mr. Arthur Burrows, personally. It was a long, hard fight, but he led it and he should take credit where credit is due. Connitt (Prosecuting Attorney Frank D. Connitt Jr.) is nothing but a stooge for the News-Press."

Retail

that some stores would like certain promotions and participate in them and others would like other promotions and go along with them. So it is just up to the merchants to pick out of the calendar what promotions they want to go along with and there may be two or three merchants on a promotion, five or six, ten or 12 or however many want to take part.

Such an idea should be popular with the customers, too. They can, also, choose what they like best.

Among the new ideas presented were Crazy Value Day, which is slated for Monday, April 21. That is when merchants will offer certain things at ridiculously low prices and such a promotion has been going on in Washington for a long time, Richard Goodheart stated, and has been very successful. Kansas City, also, has adopted it.

Another promotion the cities use is Election Day. This, too, should be a good day to offer bargains as banks and other places close on that day. Then Armed Forces Day on May 18th, would be a good time to have a special day for people of Whiteman Air Force Base suggested by Jack Shoemaker with special for the youngsters of the trade area.

Dollar Days have been pushed up to the first of the month instead as they have previously been, and for Feb. will be Friday and Saturday, Feb. 8 and 9.

There will be no change in the store hours.

Naugel announced that he had selected Bob Wall as general chairman of the retail division; Don Weller chairman of the store hours; Emory Bowman, courtesy award chairman; Cline Cain, Christmas decoration chairman and Lloyd Phillips, Christmas parade, chairman.

Details of promotions and of the various phases of the retail merchants division program will be worked out later.

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Detective Henry Tesdahl, retiring after 40 years on the Spokane police force, observed: "Well, I knew it wasn't a steady job when I took it."

He held the department's badge No. 1.

The victim was identified as Sam Gaby. The patrol said Gaby's 64-year-old wife and their daughter, Mrs. Inez McMillin of Advance were injured.

The collision happened on State Route 25.

Accidents

Slight damage resulted to a school bus and car while the students on the bus and the occupants of the car escaped injury Wednesday in an accident north of Beaman in the McFarland Neighborhood.

A 1953 Chevrolet School bus was driven by Charles Leslie Miller of Smithton, and was headed east going around a curve to the north, and a 1949 Plymouth car driven by Larry Smith, was headed south and turning west, when the two collided.

A front fender on the Plymouth was damaged and the left side of the bus damaged.

A 1954 Cadillac sedan towing a 1952 Studebaker sedan jack-knifed on Highway 65 about three miles south of the Windsor Junction of Highways 65 and 52 about 4:40 p.m. Wednesday. Both vehicles were damaged.

David A. Goss, Fullerton, Md., who was driving the car and was alone in the car, reported the cars jackknifed because of the slick pavement. Both vehicles went into the ditch, damaging the front end of the Cadillac and doing slight damage to the Studebaker.

The two cars were towed to the Chamberlin Service Garage by a wrecker from there and a wrecker of the Parks Service Station. The cars were repaired and Goss departed early today for his destination in Texas.

Missouri Basin Seen Suffering Lack of Industry

VICKSBURG, Miss., Jan. 31.—Hundreds of thousands of persons are leaving Missouri Basin states because of a drop in farm employment and lack of industrial growth, a Kansas City economist said today.

In the face of this regional need for industrial expansion," said Steven H. Robock of the Midwest Research Institute, "it is proper to ask if maximum use is being made of a scarce industrial resource—the river—with which the region has been blessed."

Robock's address was prepared for a joint meeting of the Missouri Basin MBIAC and Arkansas-White-Red Interagency AWAIAC Committees.

something loom up on the left side . . . There was a crash. "We lost our cockpit canopy. Fire came in. There wasn't time to think of anything—everything was afire and we were spinning toward the ground. I guess I bailed out. I can't figure how we collided with that airliner, if that's what it was. . . . I just can't figure it."

The jet crashed in La Tuna Canyon to the east.

On the schoolground, sheets of flame spurted horizontally as the two-million-dollar jet giant, being tested for delivery to Continental Airlines, plunged in.

CHILDREN BURNED

Some children were scorched. Smoldering clothing and shoes, scorched volley balls and other equipment littered the ground. A metal goalpost was bent from a blow. There were great holes where the engines dug in.

Souvenir hunters flocked in to pick up pieces.

One child said of the crash: "It was like an earthquake."

A teacher said: "The boys fell as though they were hit by a scythe."

The worst traffic jam the area, 20 miles northwest of Los Angeles, has ever seen occurred afterward.

The dead:

Aboard the transport: William Carr, 36, pilot, of nearby Pacific Palisades; Archie Twitwell, 50, copilot of nearby Northridge; Waldo B. Adams, 42, flight engineer, and Roy Nakazama, 29, radio operator. The latter two are from Los Angeles.

ONE BOY DEAD

Pilot Roland E. Owen, 36, on a production test flight out of his hometown of Palmdale, rode the jet to his death. Its crash caused 15 small brush fires which were quickly put out.

John Brann, about 12, a schoolboy, was dead on arrival at Van Valley Emergency Hospital.

Witnesses gave graphic descriptions of the collision and the long, twin plunges earthward.

The jet struck the airliner a glancing blow, apparently from the rear. Both were disabled and nosed immediately into their death dives.

To Air Force Col. Richard F. Shaefer, flying below, it was: "A great flash, and debris falling."

To George Dohner, flight instructor, also flying below, it was: "A blast . . . and then the jet went into an inverted spin."

CLASS STUDYING PLANES

Harry Schwartz, teacher at a school for physically handicapped children, had his class of 100 outside to look at jet vapor trails. To him:

"The plane I saw kept coming down, about level with a mountain ridge, and then it exploded. There was a sheet of yellow flame and it disintegrated. After it hit the ground black smoke shot in the air. It seemed like 10 seconds before the sound reached us, first the roar of the dive and then the crash."
